Mafia Chieftain Kidnaped in New York City

By ROBERT NOERR

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, a reputed Cosa Nostra chieftain scheduled to appear before a grand jury today, was kidnaped on Park Avenue this morning by two gunmen, police said.

"The boss wants to see you," one of the gunmen reportedly told Bonanno.

Bonnano's lawyer said he started after the men, but stopped when one fired a shot at him.

The bullet hit the pavement in front of him, the lawyer said.

At the U.S. Senate crime committee's hearings last year, underworld stool pigeon Joseph Valachi identified Bonanno as a leading figure in the Cosa Nostra also known as the "Syndicate" or the Mafia.

Valachi testified that Bonanno bossed one of the five Cosa Nostra families or gangs in metropolitan New York.

Reportedly 30 members of his family are scheduled to testify in the federal grand jury's probe. Bonanno was under subpoena to appear. The nature of the investigation has not been disclosed.

Bonanno, a 59-year-old Sicilian-born immigrant who entered this country illegally in 1924, had just arrived in a taxicab with two attorneys when the gunmen appeared. The cab had pulled up in front of the Park Avenue apartment building of one of the attorneys, William P. Maloney.

Police and other sources at the scene gave this account:

First out of the cab was attorney Joseph P. Allen, who walked into the building. Maloney, Bonanno's attorney, was next, but as he approached the doorway he heard a voice say, "Come on, Joe, the boss wants to see you."

It was raining and each of the gunmen wore raincoats and carried pistols.

Maloney saw them pulling Bonanno along the avenue toward 36th Street. He said he

400,000 Men Affected in Railroad Talks

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's fourth major threat of a railroad strike in six months hung in the balance today while negotiators considered a three year pay raise of 27 cents an hour recommended by a presidential emergency board.

Preliminary reaction to the recommendations indicated that negotiators representing 90 per cent of the U.S. railroad industry and 11 nonoperating unions seemed inclined to accept them. More than 400,000 workers are affected.

There was no immediate formal comment from either side. They have 30 days to accept the recommendations, or launch another nationwide strike scare.

President Johnson, in creating the board Aug. 18, warned the dispute "threatens substantially" to disrupt the nation's transportation system.

The board, with many acid comments about the "cumbersome" state of railroad labor negotiations, also recommended fringe benefits and measures to protect jobs is an industry that has seen drastic employment cuts in recent years.

The report of the board, headed by former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth, was released by the White House shortly after being handed to Johnson Tuesday.

The board complained that railroad labor negotiations had grown in some 40 years under the Railway Labor Act to something resembling the ritual of "the Japanese Kabuchi theater."

In a remarkably readable report for such a tangled dispute, the board urged drastic revisions in emergency board procedures to reduce industry irritations, relieve the "frustrations" of board members and lead to better relations.

"It need hardly be added that any improvements in the labor relations of this critical industry would be decidedly in the public interest," the board said.

Carson Fires Hoover Salute Throughout Day

Ft. Carson began firing today the traditional one-gun salute in honor of former President Herbert Hoover who died Tuesday at 6 a.m.

The salute will continue to be fired every half hour throughout the day as a tribute to the former commander-in-chief.

The 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) and Ft. Carson units passed in parade starting at 10 a.m. today in honor of Mr. Hoover.

Officials said the Army post's flag was flown at half mast Tuesday and would continue to fly at half mast for the next 29 days.

At noon on the day of the burial, a salute will be fired each minute for 21 minutes and a 50-gun salute will be fired at retreat to mark the mourning of each of the states.

Three Girls, Six Youths Jailed in Murder Probe

DENVER (UPI)—Denver police late Tuesday jailed three girls and six youths in the brutal knife-slaying of a 62-year-old North Denver man last Saturday.

The victim, John Bear was stabbed 85 to 90 times in the chest, stomach and neck, police said. Detectives said the slaying apparently occurred when the man discovered the youthful gang burglarizing his home.

The junior and senior high school students—three girls, 12, 14 and 15, and six boys, most of them aged 16 and 17—all denied any part in the slaying.

However, detectives said one of the youths admitted taking part in the burglary and implicated the others.

The youths were captured after Juvenile Bureau Detective Sgt. Keith Morris checked absentee lists in North Denver junior and senior high schools and decided to check on one of the names.

He said he went to the home and the boy confessed to the burglary.

Cold Air Spell Holds Grip on Eastern Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unseasonable cold air held a grip across most areas east of the Mississippi River today, with the season's first freezing weather chilling some sections in the Southeast.

It was warmer in Anchorage, Alaska, 44 degrees, than in Tallahassee, Fla., where the mercurve edged near the freezing mark. In North Carolina, it was below freezing, 29 degrees, in Asheville, and 31 in Greensboro.

Similar readings were reported in sections of Virginia, Georgia and Tennessee and in interior sections of New England, western New York, western Pennsylvania and in parts of the northern Midwest. More than an inch of snow fell in Houghton, in Upper Michigan. Rain fell in sections of the Northeast.

The October hot spell in Southern California and the lowlands of Arizona continued. Tuesday's high marks included 100 in Miramar, Calif., near San Diego, and 98 at Point Arguello, a normally cool spot on the coast northwest of Los Angeles.

Nation to Bid Farewell to Herbert Hoover

By ARTHUR EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation, its proud flag at half-staff, bowed in mourning for the third time in less than a year today, as it bade solemn, sad farewell to its 31st President, Herbert Clark Hoover.

At 9 a.m. EDT, the doors of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church on Park Avenue swing open and public homage to Hoover begins. His body will lie in state [illegible] hours amid the Byzantine-Romanesque grandeur of the [illegible]-year-old edifice, [illegible] by an honor detail from armed forces.

The tribute will be repeated on Friday and Saturday in Washington in the Capitol rotunda where assassinated President John F. Kennedy was honored last November, and where in April tribute was paid to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the great warrior who once served as Hoover's Army chief of staff.

On Sunday, Hoover will be buried in his native Iowa, in quiet and simple dignity.

Hoover died at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday at the age of 90. His gallant old heart gave out beneath the burden of a final illness that began Saturday with a massive internal hemorrhage. He passed away peacefully and painlessly in a deep coma.

Born in obscurity, the first American president from west of the Mississippi was a mining engineer and a self-made millionaire when he turned to public service. It fell his lot to be in the White House at the onset of the Great Depression and the electorate turned him out in 1932 after only one term, politically discredited.

But with grace and vigor, Hoover in private life regained the esteem that circumstance had cost him. At his death he was a revered elder statesman, respected even by the bitterest of his old political foes.

Two hours and 15 minutes after Hoover's death, his body was removed from his suite on

Barry Slated To Talk to Nation on TV

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater swings into Pennsylvania today for his second campaign trip in the Philadelphia area and a meeting with Gov. William W. Scranton.

Scranton, who opposed Goldwater for the presidential nomination at the Republican National Convention, will introduce the Arizonan at a rally tonight in Philadelphia.

Goldwater also has speeches scheduled at West Chester and Upper Darby and plans a motorcade through South Philadelphia.

At 10:30 p.m. EDT he will speak to the nation via the ABC-TV network on recent international developments.

After the networks and the Federal Communications Commission turned down GOP demands for free time to match the time given President Johnson Sunday night, the Republicans bought time on ABC.

Goldwater spoke briefly on foreign policy Tuesday night in an off-the-cuff speech to Republican campaign workers in a Baltimore hotel.

He said that with the ouster of Soviet Premier Khrushchev the United States faces a tougher Communist bloc which is likely to behave more like the belligerent Red Chinese and the late Soviet dictator Josef Stalin.

He demanded the United States take a tougher line in its foreign policy and he attacked the Johnson administration for what he called "the insane policy of strengthening an enemy who has vowed to bury us."

The Soviet Union may have had a hand in developing the nuclear device exploded last week by the Chinese Reds, Goldwater said.

He said he strongly disagreed with President Johnson's interpretation of the Khrushchev overthrow.

"I don't agree that there will be any continuation of the Khrushchev line," he said. "I believe

Auto Union To Vote on Ending Strike

By A.F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today scheduled a membership vote Sunday that could signal the end of the national strike against General Motors Corp.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the UAW, and Leonard Woodcock, chief of the UAW's GM Department, said today the GM Council of the UAW will meet in Detroit Friday.

It will recommend to the local unions either ratification or rejection of the UAW national agreement.

A telegram to all GM UAW units said "all GM local unions and units are directed to meet Sunday."

"If a majority," the union executives said, "shall ratify the national agreement, all local unions and units will be notified and the national strike against GM shall be ended. If this should happen, local unions and units which have ratified local settlements shall return to work immediately."

The union said local units

750,000 Votes Are Estimated For Colorado

DENVER (UPI) — A record 910,000 Coloradoans are eligible to vote in the Nov. 3 general election and State Elections Officer Kenneth C. Russell estimates some 750,000 will exercise their rights.

If Russell's figures are accurate, the voter turnout will set a new high mark, topping that of 1960 when 736,246 of some 882,422 eligible state residents trudged to the polls.

In 1962, 622,481 persons voted of the 879,075 who were registered.

Russell said he still is receiving reports from all Colorado counties on official registration figures. Registration for the election closed last Wednesday.

10 Fatalities Reported In State Hunting So Far

DENVER (UP) — The deaths of two more hunters were reported Tuesday, bringing to 10 the number of men who have died since the big game season began on Colorado's Western Slope five days ago.

The latest victims were identified as Alvin H. Vordenbaum, 66, of Bexar, Tex., and Donald Edwin Deibert, 41, of Derby, Colo. Both men died of heart attacks while hunting in Rio Blanco County in northwestern Colorado.

Vordenbaum collapsed in the front seat of a pickup truck six miles southeast of Meeker when returning from a day of hunting. Deibert died at his hunting camp 50 miles east of Meeker.

Eight of the 10 deaths have been due to heart attacks. The other two were victims of accidental shootings.

Hot Line Between Moscow, U.S., Gets Complicated

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

MOSCOW (AP) — Who's on Moscow's end of the hot line now? Whose finger is on the nuclear rocket button?

Until Nikita Khrushchev's unexpected ouster last week the answer to both questions was simple — and the same. Now it's more complicated.

If President Johnson decides to have a talk on his direct line to the Kremlin, he presumably would get Alexei N. Kosygin. As premier, Kosygin heads the Soviet government.

But such significant things as the lineup of portraits of Soviet leaders displayed in Moscow show that Leonid I Brezhnev is the top man now. He took over Khrushchev's job as Communist party first secretary.

In the last 40 years of Communist rule, the party secretary has always been top man; he has been premier only 18 of those years. The premier the rest of the time has been a technician.

This might not be much of a problem for Johnson since the hot line is a teletype circuit, not a telephone. Talking to two people on the phone at once might be confusing, but an agreed message could be put on the teletype from Moscow.

The finger-on-the-button question gets more involved due to the vagueness of the Soviet constition.

It does not designate a peacetime commander in chief for Soviet military forces as Johnson is commander in chief of the American military establishment.

Under the Soviet constitution the President of the Supreme Soviet, which declares war and concludes peace, is presumably the top commander. But the Presidium has 33 members, which is a bit too many fingers for one button.

Beginning in 1961, there were scattered official references to Khrushchev as commander in chief. One statement indicated Khrushchev already had the role in January 1960, when Soviet military doctrine formally accepted rockets with thermonuclear warheads as the principal weapon.

In both Washington and Moscow, it is recognized that the speedup in the processes of modern warfare requires quick reactions. That means a clear-cut process of taking decisions. The clearest way is for one man to be responsible.

Lacking an officially proclaimed commander in chief, Premier Kosygin might seem to be the man. But his portrait is second, and what No. 1 man would want to turn over the decision on massive devastation to his deputy?

On the other hand, if the Rus-

Russians Still Refuse to Pay U.N. Arms Cost

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The new Soviet government is sticking to the Khrushchev regime's refusal to help pay U.N. peacekeeping costs. But postponement of the General Assembly session in hopes of a compromise appeared certain today.

Chief Soviet delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told newsmen Tuesday, "our position is clear and principled and unchanged, as I expressed it in the Security Council." If there is a formal proposal to postpone the assembly, "we will study it," he said.

Chief U.S. delegate Adlai E. Stevenson made clear that the United States is still determined to demand that the Soviets lose their assembly vote unless they pay up.

Stevenson said the Russians had "totally rejected" U.S. proposals and he was "very discouraged about negotiations, or finding some suitable formula."

U.S. sources denied a rumor that if the assembly was postponed, the United States would agree to suspension of the voting penalty until the new year.

The Latin-American group of 20 nations and the Asian-African group of 57 scheduled meetings today to discuss a proposal to postpone the assembly opening from Nov. 10 to Dec. 1.

Members predicted that most of these delegations would join in a written request to Secretary-General U Thant for the postponement. They said that would make up the majority necessary to postpone the assembly.

Fedorenko told the Security Council on Oct. 9 that the Soviet

U.S. Budget Deficit To Run $5.8 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Budget Director Kermit Gordon says he expects the government's deficit for the fiscal year that ends next June 30 to run close to the May estimate of $5.8 billion.

He told newsmen Tuesday after a conference with President Johnson that present indications are that spending will be close to the predicted $97.3 billion, while receipts will be near $91.5 billion.

Gordon was accompanied to the White House by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who said Johnson had told him to prepare an armed forces structure based solely on security needs for the next fiscal year and without any fixed spending ceiling in mind.

McNamara estimated that savings made without weakening the nation's defense posture would keep defese spending some $700 million to $800 million below original estimates.

Hubert Claims Barry's Foreign Policy Dangerous

By HARRY KELLY

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, turning up the heat of his campaign, declared today that in no area are Barry Goldwater's views "more dangerous to the safety of all Americans than in foreign policy."

"The difference here is much more than the usual party difference — it is the difference between life and death," said Humphrey in remarks prepared for delivery at a Southern Illinois University rally.

With the campaign having entered its final two weeks he has sharpened his attack on Sen. Goldwater, the GOP standard-bearer.

As he did Tuesday in Tulsa, central Illinois and Paducah, Ky., the Democratic vice-presidential nominee hammered today at this theme:

That abrupt developments in the world scene — new governments in Moscow and London, and Peking's firing of a nuclear device — have dramatically underlined the "one central issue in this campaign."

That issue, is, he said, "which man is best equipped — intellectually, by experience and by training — to lead the free world during a time of constant danger."

Laborites Lose Try to Prevent Dock Walkout

LONDON (UPI) — The new Labor party government lost its first skirmish with labor today when it failed to halt a threatened dock strike. A walkout could throttle the trade that is vital to Britain.

Minister of Labor Ray Gunter, himself a former union official who took office only five days ago, called in union and management leaders to try to avert the strike, expected in about six weeks, by Britain's 65,000 stevedores.

Informed sources said the only hope now for solving the pay dispute and heading off the strike lay with arbitration by a court of inquiry.

Kremlin Halts Downgrading Of Khrushchev

By BIRGER FARUP

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Denmark's Communist newspaper says the Soviet Union's new leaders have halted their campaign to downgrade Nikita Khrushchev because of the adverse reaction from most European Communist parties.

Peter Schaeffer, Moscow correspondent of the Danish party's Land Og Folk, said meetings in Soviet plants, state institutions and other places attacking Khrsuhchev have been stopped.

Commenting on the Communist criticism abroad, Schaeffer said: "To Soviet circles it has been a surprise that this critical attitude was expressed publicly coupled with demands for an explanation of the background and the methods of the recent shift of leaders."

Stig Bringert, Moscow correspondent of Copenhagen's liberal newspaper Politiken, reported that Khrushchev and his wife, Nina, have been installed under virtual house arrest in a four-room apartment "from where he can see the Kremlin Towers."

Bringert said the apartment building on the Moscow River also houses retired civil servants and noted scientists.

"Khrushchev is said to have received a pension of 1,000 rubles a month — which is 300 rubles more than he himself gave former Foreign Minister Molotov," Bringert said. A ruble is valued at $1.11.

Since the Soviet government announced Friday that the 70-year-old premier had resigned because of age and poor health, there have been conflicting rumors as to his fate.

Before his sudden eclipse, Khrushchev had been staying at his vacation villa in the Crimea.

As Communist spokesmen outside the Soviet Union openly criticized the manner in which Khrushchev was dumped, the Kremlin issued an urgent call for Communist unity.

"The unity and cohesion of the international Communist movement must be strengthened," Moscow radio said.

Convictions Are Reported by FBI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI said Monday that its investigations in the year that ended June 30 led to 12,921 convictions and actual, suspended and probationary sentences that totaled more than 38,100 years.

Director J. Edgar Hoover noted that fines, savings and recoveries in cases investigated by the FBI reached a new record level — $210,771,402. He said that represented a return of $1.43 for every dollar appropriated for the FBI.

It also noted that the Communist party had "worked unremittingly to increase its influence in the racial struggle; gain new members through an intensive youth recruitment campaign; and promote the false impression that it is a legitimate political party."

The report said that the number of civil rights cases handled by the FBI increased to 3,340, which it described as "a substantial rise over the previous year."

CAMPAIGNING WITH GOLDWATER — It is true that this compaign is unique in recent times because it gives the voters a real choice between the candidates. It is also a wacky one in many ways.

The unusual combination of the boldness, geniality and sheer offhandedness of Barry Goldwater have a lot to do with the nature of his campaign train. One result is the rash of home-made banners that run up. Veteran campaign watchers have not seen anything like it.

Perhaps it is simply that the kind of emotions generated for and aginst Goldwater, and for and against Goldwater, and for imagination.

Every screaming Goldwater rally — and they're all screamers — erupts in a sea of signs reminiscent of a national convention. Most are turned out by the GOP organization and offer such standard slogans as "Barry's Our Boy" and "In Your Heart You Know He's Right."

It's the original, home-made signs that are entertaining and sometimes threaten to start a fight.

A favorite are signs playing a variation on the theme that Russia will not "Bury us as long as Barry is in the White House. In San Diego one sign carrier put it this way: "Give Me Barry or Teach Me Russian."

Increasingly, the banner wavers are jabbing at the President and his family. "Clean Out the Bird House, Light up the White House," was one which got in digs at both Lady Bird and Lynda, Bird as well as Johnson's penchant for turning off light bulbs.

One home-made sign took sardonic note of the Johnsons' multi-million-dollar business interests in Texas.

"Extremist — A person who thinks there should be two TV stations in Austin," it proclaimed.

BOBBY BAKER GETS A BIG PLAY

Another trend in signs is toward Goldwater's favorite target — Bobby Baker, the one-time Senate aid now under investigation. At the Denver airport Wednesday, several placards read: "Vote Against Bobby Baker's 'Teacher'," meaning the President.

The anti - Goldwaterites who show up at rallies to heckle the Senator have original ideas, too. One of the milder ones seen along the way was: "Go Home, Barry, You Ain't Big Enough for the Job." Another banner displayed a blowup of Barry's famous black - rimmed spectacles with just three words below them, "Ban the Boob."

A few really offbeat placards have shown up among those who are not enchanted with Barry. One, in Chillicothe, Ohio, said: "Even Johnson Is Better Than Goldwater." In Athens, Ohio, a Negro girl marching in the high school band held a small, determined sign reading "I'm Here by Force."

The banner "In Your Guts You Know He's Nuts" is showing up more and more. One such sign, waved brazenly in a crowd of 16,000 Goldwater fans at the Memorial Mall in Kansas City Wednesday, caused a scuffle. A 70 year-old Goldwaterite, one Rudolph Hilton of Sugar Creek, Mo., approached the youths carrying the banner. Sternly — and foolishly — he told them they shouldn't be there. The youths violently dis- there. The youths violently disagreed, and after a short argument the old man was knocked to the ground, his nose streaming with blood.

The remarkable thing is thot no all-out-battle of signs has broken out between the rival demonstrators. The tension sometimes gets thick. In Asbury Park, N.J., a vocal little band of anti - Goldwaterites actually forced Barry to cut short his talk with their rude chanting. For a while it seemed they were courting annihilation, surrounded as they were by Goldwater worshipers.

MOST DISCIPLINED AND FANATICAL

Without doubt the Goldwater rooters who turn up to chorus "We Want Barry" everywhere me goes constitute the most loyal, disciplined and fiercly fatial candidate has had within tial candidate has hod within memory.

This week in Milwaukee the Goldwaterites' automatic response to anything about Barry unwittingly brought $750 into the coffers of the Democratic Party there. The Republicans rushing into the Milwaukee Arena by the thousands, passed stacks of books with signs reading: "Exposed Johnson, One Dollar." Seven hundred fifty of the books sold like hot cakes in a few minutes.

What did hasty book buyers get for their buck ? A copy of "My Hope for America," President Johnson's new book (Random House, 95 cents). The trick was the brainchild of a couple of local Democratic officials. They peddled 20 cases of the Johnson work at the arena door, and only one bamboozled Goldwaterite had time to demand, and get, his money back.

While his street crowds in most cities are virtually nonexistent, Barry can fill a hall in any city in the country with his hardcore following. They pay a dollar each to cheer him, and in Milwaukee 8,000 of them actually paid $50 a seat for that pleasure.

ONLY THREE CITIES A DAY

Like any politician, Goldwater likes the hurrahs and yet he is almost diffident about the whole thing. You get the impression it will not be the end of his world if he loses. He is waging a steep uphill battle in an almost relaxed manner. He holds no press conferences and flies to only three cities a day — a leisurely pace compared to the frenetic drives of Jack Kennedy and Dick Nixon in 1960.

To his disciples, Barry's eccentricities as a campaigner are disarming. The other day he kept 2,000 impatient fans in an auditorium at Omaha waiting five minutes for his appearance. A chuckling master of ceremonies finally explained that the candidate was backstage contacting two fellow hams in Greenland on his ham radio.

Mafia Chieftain Kidnaped in New York City

hollered, "Hey, where are you going? He's my client."

"Get back and behave yourself," one gunman responded.

Maloney continued to follow them.

"I told you to get out!" the gunman shouted, and fired once.

Maloney ran to the corner and saw a late model car speeding off.

Maloney said later in an interview in the apartment house lobby that Bonanno struggled with the two gunmen. They took him along the sidewalk to the corner. Maloney said, and as the car drove off Bonanno was still struggling.

Bonanno, who divides his time between Tucson, Ariz., and New York, has been described by the FBI as one of the Mafia's most feared chieftains.

He was among the gangland hierarchy who police found at the Apalachin, N.Y., underworld convention in 1957. He was one of 27 indicted on conspiracy charges as a result.

A heart attack felled him in Brooklyn the day before the trial of 23 of the underworld delegates was to have opened on Oct. 26, 1959. Twenty were convicted. Appeals through the courts subsequently voided all the convictions.

Bonanno's first arrest occurred in the 1920s when he was accused of transporting machine guns to the Al Capone gang in Chicago.

In 1938 he left the United States and legally re-entered from Canada. In 1945 he became a naturalized American citizen. He describes himself as being in the cheese business.

Auto Union To Vote on Ending Strike

lacking at-the-plant settlements will vote on whether to return to work or to stay out until an agreement is reached.

The 28-day strike has disturbed the White House. Pointing out that it has idled more than 300,000, President Johnson said it now is beginning to have an impact on employment and production in other industries.

He urged quick settlement. Both GM and the UAW agreed to strive for this. In the first 36 hours after the President's prodding only four new at-the-plant working agreements were reported. This brought the total to 83 of 130, and return to work has been made contingent on wrapping them all up.

Miller Plans To Attend Hoover Funeral for a swing through Pennsylvania to attend the services for the former president.

Miller's campaign schedule also was disrupted by a hurry-up television filming session and, as a result, he canceled engagements in Ohio and Kentucky.

The New York congressman was about to leave Oakland Tuesday, en route to Cleveland, Ohio, when he received the call from national GOP campaign headquarters asking him to make the film immediately, a spokesman said.

Arrangements were made for a private filming session at a San Francisco studio Tuesday night, and Miller then stayed overnight in a San Francisco hotel.

Assistant press secretary Harold Dunham would say only that the material was part of a program to be shown on nationwide television and that the film had to be flown to Washington, D.C., by this morning.

Miller had planned to start off from Cleveland this morning and campaign also in Cincinnati, Springfield and Dayton, Ohio, with a brief side trip to Covington, Ky.

Because of the length of the air flight to Ohio, plus a time zone loss of three hours, Miller would not be able to fulfill today's engagements, Dunham said.

The Pennsylvania trip was to have taken him into Lancaster, Williamsport and Altoona.

sians mean anything at all by their constitution, how can a man like Brezhnev — who technically is not even part of the government — have his finger on the button?

Many non-Communist observers of the Soviet scene have felt the system naturally gravitates toward one-man rule.

If the trend continues, Brezhnev will follow the example of Stalin and Khrushchev and add th e premiership to the party leadership, or some other man will move in and ultimately take both jobs.

Barry Slated To Talk to Nation on TV

it will be a tougher line laid down by the men who get along with the Red Chinese Communists."

Goldwater added: "This is going back to something more like the Stalin days."

Some 300 to 400 cheering persons turned out for what originally had been scheduled as a relatively quiet, private meeting for campaign workers and turned into a public pep rally.

Goldwater remained on the topic of foreign policy in his speech later to a $100-a-plate dinner at nearby Pikesville. More than 1,000 paid for the dinner and several hundred more stood at the rear of the armory.

The senator hit again and again at the administration's foreign policy, declaring that "even the Central Intelligence Agency reports that our prestige has dipped below the peril point."

In his prepared speech, Goldwater said Johnson's concept of the presidency "means surrounding himself with companions like Bobby Baker, Billie Sol Estes, Matt McCloskey and other interesting men."

In delivering it, he wound up with "and Matt McCloskey," leaving out the last four words. But a number of people in the audience added, "and Walter Jenkins."

Nowhere in his text did Goldwater mention Jenkins, a Johnson aide who was asked to resign last week after it became public knowledge that he had been arrested twice on morals charges.

Perry C. Tyree, superintendent of the Inspections Department said this year's total should far exceed $30 million. There has been a sharp increase in new home permits in the last few days.

Kremlin Halts Downgrading Of Khrushchev

and elsewhre reacted with dismay and resentment after Pravda loosed a blast Saturday against Khrushchev without actually naming him. The Soviet party newspaper accused the fallen premier of "harebrained scheming, immature conclusions and actions divorced from reality, bragging, phrase - mongering, commandism and unwillingness to take into account the achievements of science and practical experience."

In the satellite sphere, the Polish, Hungarian and Czechoslovak parties openly praised Khrushchev.

The Norwegian Communist organ Friheten said that if Khrushchev made mistakes, his successors must share responsibility.

Luigi Longo, chief of Italy's Communist party, told a rally in Milan Sunday: "The way in which Comrade Khrushchev has been replaced leaves us worried and critical."

Israel's party paid tribute to Khrushchev's leadership and asked Moscow for "more information" on his ouster.

$24,700 Suit Settled Out of Court Tuesday

Chenoweth Praises Recent Expansion in Springs

Rep. J. Edgar Chenoweth praised recent expansion of military, electronics and educational facilities in the Colorado Springs area at a meeting of the Colorado Springs Executive Association this morning at Ruth's Oven, 220 N. Tejon St.

Chenoweth said that he is looking forward to the time when Colorado Springs, Denver, northern Colorado, and perhaps Pueblo, will be one of the important electronics centers of the nation.

He said that a great deal is being spent on the crash program to put a man on the moon, and that perhaps peaceful uses of outer space can be emphasized, such as communications satellites.

Chenoweth, who has just finished 21 months of almost continuous session of Congress, said that he felt that six months per year would be enough, because a congressman needs contact with his constituents as well.

He said that he has introduced amendments on both the apportionment issue and prayer and Bible reading in public schools. He feels that the traditional balance between executive, legislative, and judicial branches has been upset by the Supreme Court's imposing their philosophy as well as interpreting laws. He feels that one house should continue to include other factors than population as a basis for representation, and that Bible reading and prayer should not be prohibited in public schools.

He questioned recent regulations involving law enforcement and handling of criminals and taking statements.

For the first time since he has been in Congress, he said, there is an open breach between Congress and the Supreme Court.

Congress cut the President's budget $10 billion last session, he said. About half the budget goes for defense, but we "can't let down our guard while we have the present world threat," he said.

He doesn't think the American people are being given the full story on the Viet Nam situation. "The time is coming when we will have to make a decision," he said. We can't sacrifice American lives "just to perpetuate a stalemate."

He mentioned the dwindling of gold reserves and said that reopening gold mines in the Cripple Creek and Victor area would not change the whole monetary picture.

He hailed the passage of the quotas on beef imports and meat products, which he said was the first bill to protect a domestic industry passed since he had been a member of Congress.

Chenoweth said that he felt that the Kerr-Mills Act should be tested before another attempt is made to enact Medicare. Medicare, he said, would demand a 10.4 per cent contribution of salaries to Social Security, with half of the payment from the employe and half of the payment from the employer. It is an economic question as well as one of socialized medicine, he said.

Chenoweth was introduced by El Paso County Republican Chairman Weldon Tarter. Jim Johnson is president of the Colorado Springs Executive Association.

Detroit Paper Strike Goes To Mediators

major political conventions, a statewide primary election, a World Series, the Warren Commission's report and a host of other developments.

Negotiations collapsed, were resumed at Gov. George Romney's request, collapsed again, and were revived under the auspices of a special governor's panel.

The panel, composed of two educators and a clergyman, ceased its efforts at conciliation last week by recommending mediations folowed if necessary by binding arbitration.

Both striking unions, Pressmen's Local 13 and Paper and Plate Handlers' Local 10 have rejected the proposals, although Local 10 President Bart Piscatello offered Monday to arbitrate some issues.

The publishers accepted the unions recommendations in principle, but sought an accelerated schedule.

Piscatello's offer — rejected by the publishers — would have exempted from arbitration at least one question described by the panel as a key issue — the demand of both (unions) for premium pay for Saturday night work at the morning Free Press.

Also listed by the commission as major outstanding issues were disputes over manning requirements on eight-unit presses at the News and pressmen's demands for either company-furnished work clothes or paid wash-up time.

Bryant told police he had been challenged to a drag race earlier in the evening by a carload of youths and had refused. He said they were the only persons he could think of who might have done the damage.

Nation to Bid Farewell to Herbert Hoover

the 31st floor of the Waldorf-Astoria Towers. Beneath low, gray autumn clouds, it was taken to the Universal Funeral Chapel at 52nd Street and Lexington Avenue.

During the night, the body was transferred to a catafalque on the marble, mosaic floor in the chancel of St. Bartholomew's at 50th Street and Park Avenue — just across the street from the Waldorf Towers.

Hoover was a Quaker. But it was at St. Bartholomew's that the funeral was held for his wife, the former Lou Henry, who died 20 years ago of a heart attack.

From 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. today and again on Thursday, the public was invited to pay its respects to Hoover, who at 90 years and two months lived longer than any President save John Adams, who died at the age of 90 years and 8 months.

At 4:30 p.m. Thursday there will be a brief memorial service at St. Bartholomew's, including the Episcopal prayers for the dead. President Johnson plans to attend.

By request of the family, there will be no choir accompaniment. Organ music will be played instead. Admittance will be by invitation only.

On Friday morning, Hoover's body will travel by train to Washington, there to lie in state in the Capitol rotanda. The President plans to be at Union Station or the arrival.

At 10:30 a.m. Sunday, the casket will be taken to National Airport for a flight to Iowa City. From there a cortege will bear it 10 miles to West Branch, Iowa.

On a grassy knoll, overlooking the two-room cabin where Hoover was born, graveside services are scheduled for 2:40 p.m. CST. A list of 365 friends, colleagues, government leaders and associates has been invited. Details were worked out more than a year ago.

Finally, surrounded on three sides by evergreen trees amid corn fields seared by autumn, Hoover's body will be consigned to his native soil. From California to lie beside him in eternity will come the body of his wife. Married in 1899, the Hoovers had two sons, Herbert Jr., and Allan Henry Hoover, who were with their father when he did.

Beginning at noon Sunday, all military installations will fire 21-gun salutes to the former president. That evening, after flags come down, the guns will salute Hoover 50 times, once for each state in the Union.

American flags around the world have been at half-staff by direction of President Johnson since shortly after Hoover's death.

A 30-day period of mourning was decreed by Johnson, who declared: "We have lost a wise American, and the world has lost a humanitarian citizen of all mankind. He lived a full and useful life, and we are still deeply in his debt."

Among tributes pouring in with news of Hoover's passing were particularly poignant one from the two men who now are the only living former American Presidents — Democrat Harry S. Truman and Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Truman, 80, is recovering in a Kansas City hospital from injuries suffered in a recent fall.

He wired Hoover's sons: "I was deeply saddened by the passing of your father. He was my good friend and I was his. President Hoover was a devoted public servant and he will be forever remembered for his great humanitarian work."

From Gettysburg, Pa., Eisenhower, 74, issued a statement which said in part:

"He has by his great service earned the gratitude of America and the entire free world. Everywhere, he was known as a friend of humanity. Mrs. Eisenhower and I join the nation in grieving for the loss of a man who has meant so much to the Republic, and to whom we gave our deep affection and admiration."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate, called Hoover's death a profound loss to the American people and to the cause of individual fredom and dignity throughout the world.

"Herbert Hoover embodies and came to symbolize the finest principles and qualities for which our country stands," Goldwater said in a statement.

Rep. William E. Miller, Republican vice-presidential candidate, canceled a campaign trip to Pennsylvania to attend funeral services here. He also planned to attend the burial in Iowa.

When told of Hoover's death, Miller was addresing a breakfast meeting in San Jose, Calif. He asked his audience to join him in a moment of silence "for our great fallen leader."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, said in Tulsa, Okla., that Hoover's death "saddened everyone of us." He said that Hoover "grew into greater recognition, greater respect as his years went on."

The repeat mention of Hoover's humanitarian qualities grew out of his services in World War I as organizer for Amrica's mass relief of starving Europeans.

"He fed more people and saved more lives than any other man in history," Neil MacNeil, Hoover's close friend and long associate, said after the death of the man whom associates called "The Chief" — an accolade dating back to the grim days when Hoover succored stricken Belgium and other war-ravaged nations.

Son of a small-town blacksmith, orphaned at the age of 8, and no stranger to poverty, Hoover amassed a fortune estimated at $6 million as a young mining engineer.

His World War I activities brought him international attention, and he entered politics in 1921 as secretary of commerce succesively under Presidents Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge.

In 1928, Hoover was elected president, defeating Democrat Alfred E. Smith in a bitterly fought campaign.

Seven months after his inauguration, the nation plunged into the great depression. For this, the public blamed Hoover, although his defenders said no man could have withstood the adverse tide that engulfed him. Breadlines grew, the nation's factories fell idle, and unemployment, hunger, and fear gripped the land.

Against this grim background, Franklin D. Roosvlt had little trouble defeating Hoover in 1932, to begin the era of the New Deal and 20 years of Democratic control of the White House.

Hoover was only the second president of the century to be defeated after one term. The other was William Howard Taft, who later became Chief Justice of the United States. Taft swore Hoover in as president.

Whatever bitterness he bore with him from the White House, Hoover concealed. He had little use for the Roosevelt administration. But after World War II, Hoover became, at President Truman's request, the head of a commission to seek economy through governmental reorganization. He headed a followup campaign along these lines for President Eisenhower, and is credited with saving the nation at least $3 billion a year.

In 1962, Hoover's health began to fail. An operation for abdominal cancer was followed by anemia, sieges of internal bleeding, a kidney hemorrhage and respiratory infections. For the past 17 months he had been confined to his Waldorf Towers suite.

Hoover's final illness began abruptly last Saturday with a massive hemmorhage of the stomach and intestinal area. Poisons invaded his bloodstream as his organs failed and his heart began to falter.

His personal physician, Dr. Michael J. Lepore, announced Hoover's death with a brief message he had written on hotel stationary. It read:

"President Hoover, Oct. 20, 1964, time 11:35 a.m."

Looking At Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

© 1964: By the Chicago Tribune

HOLLYWOOD I've read in many columns that Hayley Mills may star in "Candy." She's never heard of it. When her mother arrived, I asked her about it. She didn't know what the story was about. Some perverted minds think it's a rare comedy; I think it's foul. She assured me Hayley never would play anything like that . . . Fourteen-year-old Jonathan Mills, the athletic type, has his eye on the Olympics and declares he's not too young. Margot Fonteyn's stepson is in the Olympics as a fencer — at 15. . . Hayley's been practicing driving on her mother, who reported several times, "I must be brave," before she got in the car. After riding a few boocks, she thought her daughter was marvelous. The other night Hayley took her up a mountain after dark: "She had to practice night driving." When I complimented Mrs. Mills on her child, she said: "I'm keen on her myself. I let her come here alone so she could grow up a bit, and told her to keep track of expenses. She presented me with a little book listing all her money — even a dime she gave somebody on the street. Her clothes are all tidy, too."

HENRY WILCOXON signed in for an acting job in "The War Lord" at Universal with Charlton Heston and Richard Boone. Henry was Cecil De Mille's associate producer. This is the first time he's acted without having some hand in the production in 17 years. Henry was largely responsible for De Mille's putting Heston in "Greatest Show." . . . . Mitzi Gaynor, named Hungarian of the year, gets her award at Cleveland's "Night in Budapest" celebration Nov. 14. Joe Pasternak, who's attended for seven years, is chairman of the entertainment committee. He tells me there are around 100,000 Hungarian - Americans in that city and the event is a big civic affair climaxed by a dinner for 3,000.

WHEN I TALK WITH David Susskind, the wheeler-dealer of the century, I usually get something controversial; but he's so busy he doesn't even have time to make people angry, except on Open End (in its seventh year on TV) and a new one, Hot Line, where viewrs phone in questions to a celebrity panel. Last week's guest, Billy Rose, got some honeys. Dina Merrill came to the show with him . . . Susskind and his partner, Dan Melnick, have three plays for Broadway: "All in Good Time," a British comedy; "Royal Hunt of the Sun," about the Spanish conquest of Mexico; and "Kelly," the musical legend of the man who leaped off the Brooklyn bridge and lived to tell. Ella Logan, Wilfred Brambell, and Jesse White go into rehearsals next month.

BERT LAHR SAYS AN EXOTIC bug put him in the hospital, but his fever's down and he's felling fine now. He'll stay put until he starts the series, Thompson's Ghosts, for Bing Crosby . . . My pal (I think) Clifton Webb, phoned to say: "I saw you in a magazine wearing Walter Winchell's hat, also with the Beatles, then on the Beverly Hillbillies. Why don't you rent the Huntington Hartford theater and play 'Hamlet' — you could throw in the dance of the seven veils!"

STUART WHITMAN has denied time and again there's trouble in his home, but I understand he has difinitely moved out and lawyers are conferring on the property settlement. . . Melina Mercouri gives her usual brilliant performance in "Topkapi," all about thieves. The biggest one of all is Peter Ustinov, who stole the picture. Peter Sellers turned down the part.

OLD CUSTOM REVIVED

HARWICH, Eng. (AP) — An old English custom — called "mayor-making"—has been revived in this Essex County town. During the ceremony, which dates back 360 years but was discontinued during World War II, the town's new mayor throws 1,000 pennies and 1,000 current buns to the village children.

COLORADO SPRINGS
GAZETTE TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Handicap of Government

There always seems to be a gap in people's understanding of the way government works. They know they pay taxes. But they also know that government provides all kinds of goods and services. Things like roads, airports, cemeteries, schools, office buildings, relief checks, subsidies, policemen, post offices, and central planning all come from government.

And the things they get seem so much larger than the sums they pay that it all seems like a great idea. What they fail to remember is that most of the goodies the government provided are never used by them. They are always used by other people. The actual goods or services received by any given person will be far less than the amount of goods or services for which that person pays. But this they miss.

What they don't seem to understand here is the role of profits in running a private enterprise, and how a lack of profits in the operation of any government project is a very bad thing.

Of course, no government can afford to tell its people that it is making a profit on what it does. That would make people furious. But the fact is that profit is a most important item. It is actually the way any businessman can measure his own efficiency in the market.

If his business is making a big profit, it is proof that he is providing what people want. If his business is making only a small profit, it shows that he is not operating efficiently and must do something to correct whatever errors may exist in his operations. If he fails to make a profit, he MUST correct this failure or go out of business.

Thus, a profit-seeking business must operate efficiently or go under. But government does not seek a profit and never really knows whether what it is offering is wanted by the public or not.

This tends to make government men very nervous. They really don't know what is going on and the method governments employ prevents them from finding out. Therefore, bureaucrats burn the midnight oil constantly in an effort to figure out some new way to please the people.

Thus, they come up with all manner of remarkable ideas. But each of them is predicated, not on seeking profit, but on compulsion. They say, in effect:

"The people need more statistics. Let's seize their property to pay for the gathering of the statistics they need."

"The people need more transportation. Let's seize their property to pay for the transportation."

"The people need more controls to keep some people from trespassing the property of other people. Let's seize everyone's property to prevent anyone from trespassing on anyone's property."

And this is the best government can do.

Now, if government operated in the market place, of course it would not be government. And we do not refer to government here in the sense of management of private affairs, which also can be called government at times. We are referring only to that particular kind of government that is politically oriented and does not seek profits.

When men in the market place figure out something the people need, or something they think the people need, they say, in effect: "Let's provide the people with better transportation. Let's invest our own money and see if we can please the people. If we can, we will make profits."

"The people seem to need better statistics. Let's organize a voluntary agency to gather statistics for those who need them. Let's invest our own money and see if we can provide the kind of statistics people want so that if we please them, we can make a profit."

The search for profits keeps businessmen scratching their heads and trying to come up with something that people will want. But everything a businessman does has to be done with private money, voluntarily accumulated, in the hope that profits will result. It is the search for profits that keeps the businessman honest and persevering. And he can measure his success in the amount of profits he earns.

This is the great handicap of government. Government has no way of measuring the effectiveness, the desirability or the efficiency of anything it operates. It just keeps trying, and every effort is predicated upon seizure of the property of private persons.

Better Off

A man who earns a dollar an hour and who can buy ten loaves of bread with that dollar, is better off than a man who earns three dollars an hour but who can buy only nine loaves of bread with his hourly earnings.

Herbert Spencer On Cooperation

Man has two sets of problems. One of them is necessary, arising from nature. The other is unnecessary, arising from man himself.

The necessary set of problems are the obstacles nature has put in our way. And these we must overcome or perish. The unnecessary problems are those devised by government. The theory of the government is that by putting obstacles in our way, none of us will succeed too well in overcoming nature. This way, those least fitted to contend with nature are benefitted by the government. And those best fitted are injured by means of regulations and taxes.

The net result is to reduce all of us to those who are least fit.

Herbert Spencer, a great philosopher of an earlier year, commented on this very fact in his essay, "A Plea for Liberty." Here is what he had to say:

"Speaking broadly, every man works that he may avoid suffering. Here, remembrance of the pangs of hunger prompts him; and there, he is prompted by the sight of the slave-driver's lash. His immediate dread may be the punishment which physical circumstances will inflict, or may be punishment inflicted by human agency. He must have a master; but the master may be Nature or may be a fellow man. When he is under the impersonal coercion of Nature, we say that he is free; and when he is under the personal coercion of someone above him, we call him, according to the degree of his dependence, a slave, a serf, or a vassal. . .

"Men may work together in a society under either of these two forms of control; forms which, though in many cases mingled, are essentially contrasted. Using the word cooperation in its wide sense we may say that social life must be carried on by either voluntary cooperation or compulsory cooperation; or to use Sir Henry Maine's words, the system must be that of contract or that of status; that in which the individual is left to do the best he can by his spontaneous efforts and get success or failure according to his efficiency, or that in which he has his appointed place, works under coercive rule, and has his apportioned share of food, clothing, and shelter. The system of voluntary cooperation is that by which, in civilized societies, industry is now everywhere carried on. Under a simple form we have it on every farm, where the laborers, paid by the farmer himself, and taking orders directly from him, are free to stay or go as they please. And of its more complex form an example is yielded by every manufacturing concern. In each of these cases there is an obvious working together, or cooperation, of employer and employed. And then, at the same time, there is a far more extensive, though unconscious, cooperation with other workers of all grades throughout society. This voluntary cooperation, from its simplest to its most complex forms, has the common trait that those concerned work together by consent. There is no one to force terms or to force acceptance. It is perfectly true that in many cases an employer may give, or an employee may accept, with reluctance. . .

"But the general formula is not 'Do this, or I will make you'; but is 'Do this, or leave your place and take the consequences. On the other hand, compulsory cooperation is exemplified by an army, raised by conscription. Up from the private soldier through the noncommissioned officers and the half-dozen or more grades of commissioned officers, the universal law is absolute obedience from the grade below to the grade above. The sphere of individual will is such only as is allowed by the will of the superior. The understanding now is, 'Obey in everything ordered under penalty of inflicted suffering and perhaps death.' This form of cooperation has in days gone by been the form of cooperation throughout the civil population. . . .

"Throughout Europe, and especially in our own country (Britain), this system of compulsory cooperation gradually relaxed in rigor, while the system of voluntary cooperation step by step replaced it. ... Until at length restraints exercised by incorporated trades have fallen into desuetude, as well as the rule of rank over rank, voluntary cooperation became the universal principle. Purchase and sale became the law for all kinds of services as well as for all kinds of commodities."

This is a splendid statement of what occurred about two hundred years ago. Our problem today is clearly that the process is being reversed. Today, the return of "obey under penalty of inflicted suffering" is the order of the day.

RAILROADING

To the Editor:

The city manager and the city council, Mr. Decker excepted, displayed arrogance, disregard for the wishes of the people, and economic ignorance by "railroading" the enactment of a city sales tax. The whole scheme was premeditated and predetermined, cut and dried, before the council meeting, and those councilmen who "railroaded" the ordinance had no intention of voting otherwise regardless of public sentiment. That the ordinance was printed before the council meeting and that the proposed budget was not published are sufficient evidence of a "railroading" job by the council. The city manager and the councilmen, Mr. Decker excepted, whitewashed their predetermination by holding three public hearings, one of which was attended by only 13 persons.

The city sales tax will impose an ADDITIONAL tax burden on ALL people in our city; will place additional bookkeeping burdens on businessmen; will drive some businesses into bankruptcy, and force others to move outside the city limits; will foster many successful schemes to evade the tax; and will foster more disrespect for law. The use tax, a part of the ordinance, cannot be enforced except perhaps where a recorded document of conveyance accompanies the sale. This means that a resident of Colorado Springs who buys a car outside the city limits may be forced to pay the use tax, but his neighbor may buy a houseful of furniture at the Southgate shopping center and nothing short of gestapo police methods can make him pay the use tax. I'll wager that the city manager and the city councilmen will shop outside the city limits to save paying the city sales tax, and I'll further wager that they will not voluntarily pay the use tax.

The effect of a city sales tax on mail orders is one aspect of the ordinance that has not been mentioned. The people of Colorado Springs buy a surprisingly large amount of goods from mail order houses. There are many kinds of businesses in Colorado Springs that can and do compete with eastern mail order houses, provided the differential between sales taxes and transportation costs is favorable to the local businessman. The sales end of my little business is one of these. An additional two per cent sales tax will make the tax cost more than the transportation, and the business will go to the mail order house. The state of Colorado and the city of Colorado Springs cannot collect a sales tax on mail orders to points outside of Colorado and it is nearly impossible for them to collect a use tax. With only a two per cent sales tax the sales-tax-transportation differential is in my favor, and I can successfully compete with the eastern mail order houses. But with a four per cent sales tax the differential will be in favor of the mail order house, and I will be unable to compete with them. So that I can remain competitive and stay in business, I will be forced to move my business outside the city limits to evade imposing the additional tax on my customers. As it now stands the only alternative is to close the business.

Any one who can do simple arithmetic can figure this sales-tax transportation differential. I'll use my business for an example, but a similar problem is present in other businesses that compete with mail order houses. A 100-dollar stereo component now carries a sales tax of $2, and fast freight from the east costs a little over $4 and express a little over $7. The differential of $2 to $5 is in my favor. A four per cent sales tax of $4 would neutralize my advantage if the freight were a little over $4. A 200-dollar stereo component would carry a tax of $8, and the transportation costs would be a little over $4 for freight. The differential now favors the mail order house. A 1000-dollar component music system would carry a sales tax of $40, but the freight charges would be about $16. Anyone with common sense would know that such a sale would go to the mail order house with a saving of $24.

The American people are losing their voice (if they ever had one) in government. With increasing executive orders, bureaucratic directives, socialism, etc., we are losing the rights and privileges that the founders of this country intended we should have. Voting simply means that the majority vote will place a man in office where he will follow his wishes and the wishes of the political machine and pressure groups. Voting does not give a citizen any power, rights, or privileges in the operation of government. These facts were neatly demonstrated locally with the impact of the "railroading" by the city manager and the city council, Mr. Decker excepted, of a sales tax upon the people of Colorado Springs, and with their utter disregard for the wishes of the people. We should have a new slogan: "A government of the city council, by the city council, and for the city council."

To date our city fathers have shown only that they WANT more taxes, not that they NEED more. They apparently do not know that the efficiency of government is inversely proportional to the degree of taxation. Efficiency of government also means economy of operation in government. The city should live within the limits of its income, as you and I have to do. Taxes are now so heavy that we work about one-third of our time for the government, so more taxes are NOT needed nor are they economically sound. At the present time Colorado Springs needs a city sales tax as much as an Eskimo needs a bikini swim suit!

POLITICAL VANDAL

To the Editor:

Last night, under cover of darkness, some zealous supporter of Frank Evans for Congress carefully glued Evans' red-white-and-blue sticker to our black oversized street mailbox. The perpetrator of this political vandalism could hardly have known he was adding insult to injury! For I am a staunch supporter of J. Edgar Chenoweth for re-election to Congress, because of his long record of hard work for the growth and prosperity of the Pikes Peak region.

I was amused by the wording of Evans' sticker: "Frank Evans X for you in Congress." Does "X for you" mean what it sounds like? If so, then, "X for you, too, Mr. Evans!"

Question Box

Question No. 601: "Would repealing compulsory attendance at schools greatly help to clear up our frustrations and beliefs in socialism?"

Answer: We do not know of any thing that would do more to clear up our frustrations and beliefs in socialism than repealing compulsory attendance at schools. If there were no compulsory attendance at schools, then the government could not be the judge of what education is to be. Then there would be no monopoly on education or schooling. Then we would have a free competitive educational system where parents could select the school which they thought would develop the minds and character of their children most effectively.

Of course, attendance at government schools is the tenth plank of the Communist Manifesto. Every dictator, whether it be one man or the majority, invariably gets control of the minds of the youth of the land and indoctrinates them to put the state before God or a universal single standard of right where every man gets what he gets on a voluntary basis.

If there were no compulsory attendance at schools and the youth of the land wanted to learn a trade and work with his hands, there would be such pressure brought to bear on the legislature that they would repeal the laws which make it a crime to hire a young man below an arbitrary minimum wage. Then the youth of the land would have an opportunity to enjoy learning how to be useful to his fellow man. Happiness would be a by-product of his being useful to himself and others.

Albert J. Nock said that it has never been demonstrated yet that it is an advantage to society to have everybody able to read. That teaching so many people how to read had changed the whole course of literature. Now if you want to make a lot of money, write a book like "Grapes of Wrath" or any novel with mystery, sex, chicanery, and fraud.

It would be much better for the man who only wanted to read to escape the realities of life to be working in the garden or with machinery or selling or doing anything that was beneficial for which people would voluntarily pay.

Government schools were started in the U.S. only about 130 years ago by Horace Mann in Massachusetts. He first got laws passed to require them to go to local schools and he couldn't control them so he got the state into it. Then most of the other states followed. However, some are much more strict on it than others.

It is just a form of slavery for children. There is nothing more horrible than having the youth of the land under the control and instructions of the politicians.

Certainly we have better churches because there is not compulsory attendance, and we would have much more efficient education and more people would become educated if it were not compulsory.

All one would need to do to get a boy or girl interested in learning to read would be to point out that in some states like California one has to be able to read English in order to get a license to drive an automobile. Then if the boy was unable to read the sports or the comics, he would have the will to learn. There is not much learning without the will to learn. Leave them alone and let them plan their own lives and they will do infinitely more to promote it than will the politicians.

Questions are limited to general human relation questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Playing Politics With Defense

By THURMAN SENSING

Beginning in World War II, the Southern states were selected as the ideal areas for defense training areas. Blessed with good weather, the uniformed commanders realized that the South was the region best equipped by nature to be the site of air bases and army training camps. Thus it was not the efforts of politicians, nor the favor of the White House, that gave the South the numerous defense facilities that it has today.

This is an important truth, for in this final pre-election period, some politicians loyal to the Johnson administration are trying to sell Southerners on the idea that they keep the military bases at the pleasure of the administration. Indeed, Southerners are told by these politicians that they should consider themselves lucky for having bases and defense contracts, suggesting that these are a form of handout. This is a crude political appeal, and one that is unworthy and shameless in character. Nevertheless, it is being made.

It is unhappily a fact that the Johnson administration is playing politics with defense. For that matter, defense politics have been in the news for the last 3½ years. The public surely has not forgotten the TFX jet fighter controversy of past months. It was apparent that the adminstration had shifted a $5 billion fighter plane contract from one state to another because of the political advantages involved. In New York State today, there is politics being played with the future of the Brooklyn Navy Yard. These are by no means the only situations in which administration politics involve defense bases and contracts.

Obviously, those communities with military installations or military contracts are alarmed when politicians supporting the administration issue veiled and not so veiled threats of political retaliation if a community fails to support the administration.

Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson, on her recent political campaign swing through the South, made a point of stressing that people in areas dependent on defense contracts should make a partnership with the Johnson administration. It was a virtual confession of the crudest kind of defense politics.

This kind of statement by the wife of the President is insulting to the Southerners employed in defense work. They are given the idea that they hold their jobs, not because they do good work and are helping the country in its defense effort, but because of a form of federal patronage.

One would think that civilian camps and naval shipyards would be indignant at the administration's suggestion that their votes are for sale and that their work is simply a political handout. It is nothing of the sort, of course. Workers at defense bases owe their loyalty, not to Mr Johnson or to his political allies in Congress, but only to the people of America. Defense base workers, moreover, should realize that the bases weren't built by politicians; they were built out of the real needs of our nation's struggle against its enemies overseas.

Insofar as naval bases are concerned, these bases exist in the South because of the great harbors on the Southern coasts and the rising communist danger from the Southern hemisphere. Another reason the South has such bases is that it enjoys excellent weather, whereas Northern seaports are too cold for adequate training in winter.

These facts should be clearly understood, so that the defense base workers aren't misled or terrified by the administration politicians. And the best way for defense base workers to keep their jobs is not to show obedience to the administration, but to do a good, efficient day's work on the job.

If defense base workers bow to the Johnson administration's spokesmen, they will be turning themselves into slaves of the party in power. The leader of the Johnson "Great Society," it must be understood, is trying to turn defense workers into dependents who dare not question the decisions of the man in charge of the federal payroll.

By saying that the defense workers have no choice but to support the administration, the Johnson - Humphrey forces in effect are declaring that these federal workers have been disfranchised. It is hard to believe that these workers will allow this to happen, that they will act in such a way as to serve as rubber stamps for the administration.

They can best defend the country and their own rights by refusing to be the slaves of would-be political bosses who threaten economic retaliation.

Those Hidden Taxes

From Industrial News Review

We know — or should know — what we pay in direct taxes on income and property to communities, counties, states, and the federal government. And we know of certain sales or excise taxes, such as that on gasoline.

But, if anyone thinks these add up to his total tax bill, he is sorely mistaken. For everything we need and buy is loaded with hidden taxes — those paid by suppliers of raw materials, by manufacturers, by shippers, by retailers, and by everyone involved in the long process of bringing a product to the consumer.

How important are these taxes? The Citizens Public Expenditure Survey of New York provides some startling examples. According to it, a quart of milk carries 87 different hidden taxes, a pound of hamburger 114 different hidden taxes, a pair of shoes 126 different hidden taxes, and a pair of overalls 148 different hidden taxes. So it goes, down the endless roster of goods and services.

This points up a vital but not publicized fact: Every tax is passed on to the consumer, it has to be. And it is that individual wage earner who would gain most from a drive for economy that would really produce results at all levels of government.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Are the trees mentioned in the Bible still growing in Palestine?

A—A few of them grow there sparsely, but in contrast to the richly wooded land of Biblical times, the area is almost bare of trees.

Good Hunting

By RUFUS L. PORTER

The way it looks now, I probably won't get to go hunting this year. And I love to hunt, not because I love to kill, but because I like venison and elk and bear meat (a young bear, that is). I do not get a thrill out of killing one of nature's most beautiful creatures —but they are good eating.

When I kill a deer, I feel bad. But when I'm eating venison, I feel good. It takes longer to eat a deer than to kill one, so I guess I stay ahead of the game. But every year, I swear it will be my last. And this year I am not going out, but I haven't really sworn off. It's for other reasons.

And already I'm missing the fun of camping out and the early morning and late evening hikes through the woods in search of the elusive buck. We generally come back to camp for lunch and to rest a spell at midday. But I have killed deer at any time of day you can mention.

In order to keep up my enthusiasm for the kill, when hunting, I have to keep reminding myself that if it weren't for the hunters and the mountain lions, the country would soon be overrun with deer. Then my conscience is apt to ask, "Can you think of a nicer animal for it to be overrun with?" And the answer is, "No."

The deer is a handsome, graceful creature, clean in his habits and friendly in his manner. A vegetarian by nature, he seeks to devour none of his fellow inhabitants. He is willing to live at peace with all of them.

We hate the mountain lion for slaughtering the poor, innocent deer. Then we go out and slaughter them ourselves. Perhaps we hate the lion because he is a better hunter than we are. I wonder if it matters much to the deer if he is murdered by a man or a lion? No, this isn't sob-sister stuff, I seldom miss the hunt. I just don't think we should be so hard on the lion. He has no other means of livelihood.

Anyhow, it isn't nature's plan to allow any one species to overpopulate the earth and crowd out all the others. That's why they all have natural enemies. And man, having bested all his natural enemies but a few microbes, has become his own worst enemy.

Well, good hunting to you all.

RED MEANS DANGER

"Red means danger," the mama deer said,
"Beware the man who is wearing red.
He's out to shoot you full of lead
At this time of year."

"He'll use your hide to make a coat,
He'll ram your body down his throat,
Now ain't that a heck of a note?"
Said the papa deer.

The little deer said, "Let's all stay hid.
And then of him we'll soon be rid."
And that's exactly what they did.
We killed no deer that year.

I am not opposed to generosity or to philanthropy. But I believe it is possible for either of these virtuous impulses to be lavished on the unworthy or the undeserving.

Now, I have never heard of a grander gesture than the one so recently announced by the Cragmor Foundation when it presented a million and a half dollars' worth of land and buildings to the University of Colorado. This was certainly a generous gift to the taxpayers, C U is a tax-supported state educational institution, or was it?

Colorado University operates in Boulder at an annual deficit, and we have no reason to believe that it will do differently here. The deficit has grown with the growth of the university, which means that the bigger the seat of learning and the more branches it has, the greater the deficit the taxpayers have to make up.

In spite of the fact that the land and buildings were a gift, it seems to me that they will work a further hardship on the taxpayers of the state. It will work out, I'm afraid, like the poor guy who won a great pile of merchandise on a TV show and couldn't afford to pay the federal taxes on it. Or like the sacred white elephant the Siamese used to give their enemies so they would go broke paying for its feed.

I believe the Cragmor Foundation would have done humanity and the Pikes Peak Region a greater service by deeding their property to some free enterprise institution or endeavor. I'm not sure the taxpayers can afford many such gifts.

DRIVE ABROAD

The increasing popularity of motoring abroad is best illustrated by the 152,000 international driving permits issued by the American Automobile Association in 1962, compared to only 12,700 which AAA issued ten years ago.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

My mother had studied the psychology textbook of William James, our pioneer American psychologist, so she used psychology on us children, including the "little strokes" technique of Benjamin Franklin. Be sure to employ the daily "agenda" plan, too.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE U-409: When I was a boy, aged 11, I was out in the potato patch, hoeing weeds.

It was on my grandmother's farm and the patch covered about half an acre.

Moreover, the weeds were taking over. So it looked to me as if I had an impossible job.

My mother then came out to see what I was doing.

She sensed my half-hearted outlook, so she seized my hoe and vigorously started chopping away at the weeds.

"Don't look at the whole patch," she advised me, "for that will be discouraging.

"Just focus on one hill at a time. And then imagine that it is the last one you need to hoe.

"After you finish with it, then take the next one and also make believe that it is the last one."

This is excellent Applied Psychology, for most of us get discouraged when we view total tasks that consume many hours or days of work.

Human beings crave quick victories!

It is easier to maintain morale when we can finish tasks in a short time.

"Little strokes," said Benjamin Franklin, "fell great oaks."

That quotation shows that Ben Franklin also appreciated the need to bolster morale by taking the piecemeal viewpoint.

In my case, I have authored several books including college texts in psychology that ran over 800 pages.

If I were to view an 800-page chore, I'd NEVER get started on such a Herculean task.

So I first made an outline of the 21 most popular fields of Applied Psychology.

Then I split each chapter into the ten most significant subdivisions.

On my written daily "agenda" I'd then list just one of these subheads.

Thus, I figuratively bit off small bites which I could handle in one day's writing.

And when I finished today's subhead under Chapter 1, I crossed it off my agenda with a thick red pencil to inflate my morale.

Next day, I tackled the second subhead. And after a couple of weeks, I'd thus have an entire chapter finished.

In six months, the 846-page textbook was finished. And it didn't seem like such a Herculean task, after all, for I had employed Ben Franklin's "little strokes" technique.

Teen-agers, use this same "agenda" method for preparing your lessons and writing term papers on English themes.

Housewives, do the same for each day's household chores, including small items like washing the kitchen dishes, as well as larger tasks like ironing.

Even then, break down your ironing into "flat work" vs. "shirts," etc., so you can scratch out more items on your agenda.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Captain Will Introduce Men To Unit History

The 5th Battalion, 4th Artillery, has a historic lineage and Capt. Glenn T. Eure, new Battery A commander, plans to introduce his men to one phase of their unit history today, at the Ft. Carson U. S. Army Museum.

Eure is interested in the history of the 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) and feels that the Ft. Carson museum with its display of equipment from the 4th Field Artillery Battalion (Pack) illustrates the changes in Army units through the years.

Today's 4th Artillery at the mountain post has the 105 mm. self-propelled howitzer as its basic weapon. The 4th Artillery which was inactivated at Fort Carson in 1957 was the Army's last mule-pack artillery unit.

Eure joined the 5th Division in September coming from Vietnam where he spent the past year advising an infantry battalion of the 5th Vietnamese Infantry Division which had the mission of securing National Highway 13 from a base at Ben Cat.

This artillery officer with infantry experience earned a Purple Heart in Vietnam. He also wears the Combat Infantryman's Badge with Star from his combat experience in Korea and Vietnam.

He came on active duty in 1950 and earned his paratrooper insignia with the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team in Korean action.

Eure was graduated from artillery officer candidate school in 1958 after infantry service in Europe. He returned to the Artillery School for the advanced course before his assignment in Vietnam.

He served with a howitzer battalion on Czechoslovak border surveillance duty between 1958 and 1962.

The captain grew up in Hawaii where his father was stationed in the Army. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eure of Driftwood, Swansboro, N. C.

Speed Limit Will Increase On Uintah

The speed limit will increase Wednesday on West Uintah Street between Wood Avenue and Walnut Street.

The westbound speed limit will increase from 30 to 35 miles per hour.

The eastbound speed limit will increase from 20 to 30 miles per hour.

City Traffic Engineer Don L. Smith said proper signing of the street will be made Wednesday.

He said the speed of cars on Uintah in the area were carefully checked before the decision was made to up speed limits.

Smith termed the new speeds realistic and safe under normal conditions. He pointed out that posted speed limits are the maximum allowable under favorable conditions.

Carson Couple Looks Forward To First Vote

M. Sgt. and Mrs. Silvestre Levy, 168 Widefield Road, are looking forward to Nov. 3 and his first vote since 1940 and her first vote as a United States citizen.

As a legal resident of Puerto Rico, Levy had not been able to vote because there were no absentee ballots authorized when he was living away from the island and overseas.

Mrs. Levy transferred her citizenship in 1961 in Colorado Springs from her native Panama but was a Fort Carson resident then.

The couple have been area residents twice, in 1958 and in 1963. They purchased their first home in Widefield since they were married at Fort Clayton, Canal Zone, in 1948.

Levy answered, "We like it here" when he was asked why these natives of the tropics preferred the dry western climate. "Prices are higher but the people are friendlier."

They had lived in Puerto Rico, Washington state, Korea, Kansas and North Dakota before trying Colorado. Levy said he has never requested a specific assignment in his 23 Army years.

He has been in administrative positions mainly and is assigned now to Headquarters Company, U. S. Army Garrison.

The Levys consider Ecuador where he served with the Inter-American Geodetic Survey as their most interesting assignment. He compiled a history of installations in Panama while on duty there.

Mrs. Levy is a custom designer of women's styles after an apprenticeship in Panama City.

Administration Says Spending Is Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says his administration spent $41 million less during the July-September period than the late President John F. Kennedy's spent during the same three months of last year.

At a news conference Monday, Johnson said there are now 21,000 fewer persons working for the federal government than when he became president last Nov. 22. The employment level is the lowest in two years, he said.

DRIVE-IN, BOAT-IN

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Churchgoers in two Kentucky areas now have new convenience. A drive-in church recently began operations in Louisville and a waterside service is conducted for boaters at Lake Cumberland, in southern Kentucky.

The main hurricane months are August, September and October, although the storms do occur at other times.

Humphrey to Get Students' Apology

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, booed and heckled while speaking in the shadow of Yale University earlier this month, is about to get an apology.

Nearly 700 Yale students signed an apology Tuesday which read:

"We, the undersigned, while not necessarily supporting Senator Humphrey's political position, deplore the rude interruptions made by some of the opposition during his speech at the Democratic rally Oct. 13.

"We believe in the right of the opposition to express their disagreement, but we condemn their attempts to prevent Mr. Humphrey's own expression of opinion."

David Spiegel, 18, a sophomore from Great Neck, N.Y., drafted the apology. He said the 694 undergraduates who signed represented "12 times the number of students who made the disturbance."

D.C. WASH

By Gerry Van Der Heuvel

Washington — Few certainties remain in U. S. politics, but it's still a foregone conclusion that come January there will be a President and Vice President to inaugurate. Thus, while the campaigns rage, and friend forsakes friend, and houses divide against themselves, Washington prepares for the victories.

Work has begun on the inaugural platform on the steps in front of the Capitol. Steel scaffolding to hold TV and news cameras is already up. Downtown the pre - inaugural committee announced this week the winner of the design for the Presidential reviewing stand.

Instead of a simple, bunting-draped grandstand in front of the White House, the President will view the 1965 inaugural parade from a semi - high - rise pavilion. A "Presidential pavilion" was the brainchild of Peter Hasselmann, 27-year-old Washington architect. Hasselmann's design was the winner out of 25 entries in a competition conducted by the Washington Metropolitan Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

His award consists of $750 and the privilete of working with the D. C. Department of Buildings and Grounds in drawing up detailed plans for construction of his pavilion.

Columns Obstruct Some of the View

The imaginative design caught the fancy of the five judges in spite of the fact that the 36 columns supporting a polyethylene roof — graceful and tapered though they are — obstruct some of the view. The judges took the position that constant visibility wasn't of paramount importance in watching a parade that lasts three hours.

If temperatures on next Jan. 20 are what they were four years ago, some 290 high ranking guests in the Presidential stands will welcome the column polyethylene roof, and any other windbreaks that come their way. Moderation in the viewing of parades in extreme weather is no vice — or vice versa.

The prominence of wives and families of candidates in this year's campaigns makes the absence of information on families of the two new Russian leaders all the more marked. Nowhere in the biographies of the two men, Leonid Ilyich Brezhnev, 57, and Alexei Nikolayevich Kosygin, 60, does it mention the fact that they even have families.

To travel - weary wives of American political candidates this could be a state of blessed retrogression. Republican Vice Presidential candidate William Miller's wife was asked this week if she thought wives were in U. S. campaigns to stay. Her resigned - to - the - inevitable reply was: "They have to be."

Reception in Honor Of Stephanie Miller

Pretty Stephanie Miller, nonetheless, has done so well on the hustings that the Women's Division of Citizens for Goldwater-Miller decided this week that she was ready for her ordeal by fire. They invited a member of Washington newswomen to a reception in her honor and a no - holds - barred press conference.

The newshens, noted for turning strong Presidents purple, if not pale, with their jabs to the solar plexis, barely laid a glove on the girl from Lockport, N. Y. The closest they came was a delicately couched question about Bill Miller's reputation for being a "gut fighter."

"Will you comment," she was asked, "on criticism of your husband for his sharp-tounge lashing out at his opponents?"

"Bill has a wonderful command of the English language and expresses himself very well," came back the candidate's wife. "I don't know what they mean by a 'sharp tounge.'

"In order to express yourself well in campaigning," she went on, "you have to emphasize things forcefully, but he always sticks to the facts. This has been his creed all his life."

So Little Time To Think of Keating

Her footwork was good, too. Asked whether her husband would support Sen. Kenneth Keating, the recalcitrant GOP Senatorial candidate from their home state, Mrs. Miller pointed out that her husband had been "so busy with the national campaign that he has had little time to think of any other."

"But I know," she added, "that he intends to support all Republicans on the ticket."

Frankly envious Democrats report that Republican Bud Wilkinson, the Oklahoma football coach turned Senatorial candidate, has taken the coffee klatch out of suburbua. Instead of urging housewives to gather in little cliques for coffee and political chit - chat, Wilkinson supporters have established "Bud's Coffee Shop" is downtown Oklahoma City. The coffee shop is located in what was once a posh jewelry store, complete with circular staircase, and most importantly, convenient for office workers and shoppers on a coffee break.

It's a Far Cry From Early Campaign

Sam Brightman, deputy director of public affairs of the Democratic National Commitee, says it costs the Democratic Party $2,350 a flying hour every time the President takes Air Force 1 on political business, plus hotels and other expenses for advance men, the President and his staff. The bills, he says, will be coming in for six months after the election.

A Texas friend says this is a far cry from an early LBJ campaign he has reason to remember. The principal props of that campaign, he said, were movie stars Gene Autry and John Boles plus free ice-cold watermelon. He was tending to business at Mac's watermelon stand in Austin when Rep. Johnson's advance man came along and informed him that Johnson and Autry and Boles and a lot of other people were heading his way for ice-cold watermelon and he had better get some of those melons cut up. The experience was so traumatic that more than 20 years later he remembered that he cut up exactly 27 watermelons.

"They never did show up," he said, "and the only thing I could do was eat that watermelon myself. One thing I learned —never slice your watermelon till you see the whites of their eyes."

HALF THE FUN

NEW YORK (AP) — "We wanted to see the Fair, but we also wanted to show the world in some small way that 'soft Americans' aren't so soft," explained 45-year-old Adrian W. Cannon, who bicycled to the World's Fair from California with his three sons.

The Los Angeles bookstore proprietor and Joseph, 14; Chris, 13, and David, 12, averaged 85 miles a day. They traveled with only a change of clothes, inflatable mattress and blanket. All have had Scouting experience.

On the trip the foursome had 21 flat tires and one broken chain. They returned home by bus.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
3 NT	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠

When South's one spade response received an immediate raise, his values warranted a game undertaking and he should have proceeded without further conversation to four spades. Observe that his holding is virtually the equivalent of an opening bid, and a satisfactory fit has been uncovered.

A review of the bidding convinced West that South held a two suited hand and, inasmuch as North had raised spades origas North had raised spades originally it appeared likely that the declarer would use the dummy's trumps to ruff out his diamond losers.

In order to inhibit the establishment of the diamond suit, West decided to open a spade, selecting the five as his lead. Declarer played low from the dummy and East put up the queen which held the trick. A spade was returned to West's ace, and the latter cleared North's trump holding on the next round.

Declarer tried to split out the diamonds; however, the suit did not divide favorably, and he ended up losing two diamonds and two spades for a one trick setback. Had West led anything but a trump, South would have been able to ruff at least one diamond in dummy and, even though East can overruff with the queen of spades, there is no way for the defense to win more than three tricks.

Despite West's sharp performance, South was in position to "nip the rally" in the bud, by putting the king of spades up at trick one. This play enables declarer to assume command—he can cash the top diamonds and ruff a third round in dummy. East overruffs with the queen, however, he is out of spades and, when South regains the lead, he is able to trump another diamond to establish that suit. His losses are restricted to three trump tricks.

The suggested play of the king of spades has a logical motivation, and is not merely based on a post-mortem examination of all four hands. Declarer should make this best effort to win the first trick in order to gain control of the proceedings and, if trumps, it is more apt to be the ace than the jueen. The reasoning is rather obvious—he can never lose the ace of trumps, whereas he might be reluctant or fear it will cost a trick.

Witness Tells Court, Men Made Him Drive to Springs

A witness for the prosecution testified in District Court Tuesday that he was offered a job at $12,000 a year as a chauffeur for three men who forced him to drive them to Colorado Springs.

Kenneth Nighswonger, a driver for Sinton's Dairy, told the court that the trio had also relieved him of $12 and said that if he would meet them later they would give him $300.

Nighswonger was appearing against Charlie Roy Wortham, 47, of Denver, who has been charged with simple robbery and conspiracy. He is alleged to have robbed the McCall Mercantile, Palmer Lake, of groceries and money March 7, and conspired with Michael Clevon Morehead, 18, and Ernest Stedson Ross, 21, both of Denver.

Morehead is now in the State Reformatory for his part in the offense and Ross is serving three to four years in the State Penitentiary.

Nighswonger said he saw three men standing by the wreck of a car the morning of March 7 and offered to help. All three got into his truck and then one of them whom he said was Ross said "they would take over." According to the witness he received the impression one had a gun as he kept his hand in his pocket jamming it in his ribs. On cross examination he admitted he saw no weapon at any time.

Nighswonger drove them into Colorado Springs where the three got out of his truck.

First witness of the day to be heard was Kenneth McCall who said that the three came into his store while he was alone and ordered some groceries. The younger man (Morehead) then said "open it up," and took the money from the cash register and $3 from McCall's billfold.

A customer, Homer Ira, then walked into the store, McCall continued, and the money was taken out of his wallet. One of the three men, said McCall, threatened to hit Ira over the head with a jug while another one said "You do as I tell you, I mean business."

A third man also came into the store and he was robbed and then all three were put into the walk-in meat box and some heavy objects shoved against it to keep them in.

Testimony was also given by Ira who said a $1 bill was taken from his billfold together with all his change.

The court recessed at 4:10 p.m. and reconvened this morning at nine.

Judge David W. Enoch is on the bench. Herman Ratner is representing the district attorney's office and Clifton Kruse is appearing for Wortham.

Jury Selected In Sanity Trial

A jury was selected in District Court Tuesday to determine the sanity of Robert A. Griffin, 21, Tekaha, Neb., charged with aggravated robbery and testimony started this morning.

The defendant has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity and the present trial is on the sanity issue only. Trial date for the guilt issue will be set Jan. 12, term day in District Court.

Doctor Says Mental Units Should Be Treating Centers

Mental hospitals should be treatment centers, not custodial institutions, said Dr. Alan M. Kraft, director of the Fort Logan Mental Health Center, Ft. Logan, Colo., at the 11th annual meeting of the El Paso County Association for Mental Health, Inc., at the Valley Hi Country Club Tuesday evening.

While "the gadgets we live by have completely revolutionized the world as we know it" in the last 50 years, he said, "psychiatry is still an infant science."

We "have written off a whole group of people," he said, and have built insane asylums "to give housing and minimal care as cheaply as possible to undesirables."

Until recently in our state, he said, a person had to be referred to a judge to be adjudicated insane before being admitted.

He cited the case of a Scandanavian domestic, who spoke broken English, who had been referred to police when she became hysterical over a broken romance. She had been sent to a state hospital and had not received a medical examination for 30 years.

Hospitals were built, he said, to protect the community from these strange people, and the question has been, not how to rehabilitate the patient, but rather, "Is there any possible reason for releasing this patient?" A question as to how the body was to be disposed of was standard as part of admission for any age patient in Colorado until three years ago. The patient was never expected to leave.

"Almost any family can handle the usual kinds of physical illness," he said, but few can handle the cost of the prolonged stays required for treatment of mental illness. Even at Fort Logan, he said the average length of hospitalization is three to four months, costing $200 - $300 per week. Admission policy has been crowded by the legal apparatus, he said, because the judge can send anyone to the state hospital, and there are often no other facilities available.

Fort Logan, said Kraft, is based on the "brains not bricks" philosophy of Dr. Will Menninger. Less than five per cent of the patients, he said, are still there after two years, and about eight per cent are still there at the end of one year. The hospital has 130 beds. It is hoped that identification with active immediate treatment will prevent long-term hospitilazation.

If mental patients all look alike, he said, "we produce that picture by a desocialization phenomenon." "We remove all that is human from their lives." He cited a study of orphans raised in institutions by Dr. Rene Spitz, who found that, although their physical wants were satisfied, youngsters who received no love lacked vitality.

"Mental patients are treated like animals, and they learn to behave like animals," he said.

The goal, he said, has been to keep the daily cost as low as possible. However, he mentioned a man admitted in 1897, who has cost the institution $30,000 at the rate of $2 per day. Half of the patients in Pueblo have been there over 10 years, he said.

At Fort Logan, he said, it costs $1,457 to admit, treat, and discharge the average patient.

A greater saving, he said, is "returning people to active lives as human beings" — "converting mentally ill people to taxpayers," he said.

Frank Cremonesi, interim president, El Paso County Association for Mental Health, Inc., explained the "3S" program: science, service, and social action, and introduced Dr. Kraft.

Recommendations of the nominating committee for this year's officers were unanimously accepted.

Trial Re-Set In Aggravated Robbery Case

Frank Rensley Moore who was scheduled to be tried in District Court Tuesday for aggravated robbery had the date vacated and re-set for Jan. 4, 1965 at request of counsel.

The law firm of Rector and Kane entered its appearance on behalf of the defendant and HayDen Kane explained to Judge David W. Enoch that Moore's attorney, C. C. Devine of Texas, was unable to be present due to another commitment in a Texas court.

Kane also said that Moore was presently unable to provide funds for transportation of out of state witnesses.

Deputy District Attorney Bob Russel opposed the motion and asked that if it was granted no further continuances would be allowed unless under exceptional circumstances.

Judge Enoch found the request "reasonable" and in granting it ruled no further continuances would be allowed unless the grounds were of an emergency nature.

Moore, 31, Ft. Worth, Tex., is alleged to have robbed Bernard Kolm, an employe of the REA Express, April 15, 1963 and taken money orders, travelers checks and a .38 caliber revolver. The incident is said to have happened at the Rio Grande Railroad depot.

CC to Dedicate $275,000 Boettcher Health Center

Colorado College will dedicate its new $275,000 Boettcher Health Center, an innovation in campus infirmary design, Nov. 7.

The dedicatory ceremonies will take place at 2:30 p.m. on the lawn south of the health center.

The college has extended an invitation to the community to attend the ceremonies and to tour the new facilities following dedication.

The "let them study while they get well" concept is a cornerstone of the college's 20-bed infirmary.

Built of red and charcoal brick, the health center is the first circular building erected on the campus of the independent liberal arts college.

The new health center was made possible by grants from the Boettcher Foundation of Denver, the Kresge Foundation of Detroit, the Woman's Educational Society of Colorado College, the Louis D. Beaumont Foundation of Cleveland, and the Max C. Fleischmann Foundation of Nevada.

It was designed by the architectural firm of Caudill, Rowlett and Scott of Houston, Tex. Carlisle B. Guy of Colorado Springs was associate architect.

The initial grant for the building followed a study of small college health centers conducted by Colorado College and two other liberal arts colleges under a $10,000 grant from Educational Facilities Laboratories of New York.

The Navy man wanted to register and hospital officials wanted exactly the same thing.

A staff car transported the eager voter to the County Clerk's Office where he registered with more than 2,000 other "last dayers."

Advised in advance that the patient was on his way, the county clerk arranged for ETN2 Gearhardt to "buck the line."

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Referring to the hint about cutting a piece of peg board to fit over one side of a double sink. . .

My son cut one to fit over the garbage disposal side of our sink, and even went one step further. . .

He cut out a semi-circle at one corner of the peg board, large enough so that unusable parts of lettuce, tomatoes, or what have you, could be scraped off the cutting board into the disposal without further handling and without removing the board.

It's wonderful! —Edith Peterson

Now, this is what I call quick thinking.

The reason for the board is to give you more counter space while preparing meals, and if you ever get one, you won't do without it. (The board not the meal!).

I leave my board standing up against the wall when not in use. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Working mothers often find it hard to get little jobs done. . . like mending small tears, and sewing on that one missing button.

I found it most convenient to hang an attractive, padded clothes hanger (you could use a long, narrow, homemade pincushion) in my utility room. In it, hang 12 to 15 needles threaded with different colors, all ready for action.

To see the needle and thread ready to go, is a great stimulant to do that one stitch in time that saves nine. —Maxine Kamenitsa

Dear Heloise:

I think this suggestion might solve the highchair problem for other grandmothers who do not want to buy, or have to store, a regular highchair between visits:

Take a large folding-type T. V. tray and a chair that will fit between the tray legs. Place the T.V. tray over the chair seat.

If the baby is small, you can sit him on a pillow, then tie a large dish towel under his arms and around the back of the chair.

When the child is older, you can do away with the pillow and towel and this highchair will work for years.

The little fellow and his highchair can be pushed up near the family table. You won't have to worry about things being pulled off the table, and the tray allows for spilling! —Mrs. E. J. Biddell.

Dear Heloise:

If you have brown sugar that is hard, take a pan with a tight cover, put the sugar in the pan, dampen a cloth, wring it out and fold several thicknesses. Put the cloth over the top of the pan, then put on the lid, and leave it overnight.

Result? Soft sugar. —A. K G..

Dear Heloise:

For the weekly silver polishing, I use a clean, discarded pair of my husband's white socks.

I can see all the tarnish that comes off my silver onto the socks, and there are no fingerprints on the silver as I wear the socks like mittens! —A Montana wife

Letter of Laughter? No!

Dear Heloise:

If your husband is bald, flannel pillow cases are out of this world. They keep his ears and head warm when the weather gets cold. —B .

Dear Heloise:

I press the knees of my nylon-rayon, or nylon-wool stretch-type pants with a damp pressing cloth immediately after wearing them. The garment will return to its original shape. This is especially true with ski pants.

Always have stretch pants dry cleaned unless washing instructions accompany the garment.

For convertible collar shirts that you wear open at the neck all the time, snip off the tiny collar button and loop. The shirts look much neater and iron better around the neck. —Assistant Buyer who has to handle customer's complaints.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market scored a narrow gain in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Fractional gains were the rule for most key stocks but many were unchanged and there was a scattering of fractional losers.

Gains by the averages pushed them further into record high ground. Following Tuesday's rally, upward progress was becoming more difficult.

Spreading impact of the 28-day-old strike against General Motors was reported in a variety of industries as well as the railroads. News that the United Auto Workers GM Council had scheduled a meeting Friday to decide on whether to recommend ratification of a contract came as reassurance.

A slightly higher trend prevailed among autos, steels, electrical equipments, airlines, nonferrous metals, rails and drugs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 332.2 with industrials up .8, rails up .6 and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.41 at 882.91.

Both averages were moving above the historic closing highs set Tuesday.

Prices rose in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were irregularly higher. U.S. government bonds were steady in moderately active dealings.

Missile Hunters Could Cost Up To $20 Billion

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The commander of the Army Air Defense Command says preliminary studies for a new antimissile-missile are encouraging but that the missile would cost $15 billion to $20 billion to develop and install.

Lt. Gen. Charles B. Duff said the proposed missile would use a highly complex radar system that could distinguish an actual warhead from decoys.

Duff said current knowledge is sufficient to solve the engineering problems involved, but the cost factor is the problem.

Duff, who commands 134 bases using the Nike Hercules missile, made his comments Tuesday before the La Jolla chapter of the Military Order of World Wars.

Earnings of $1.87 a share — highest in the company's history — have been reported by Waddell & Reed, Inc. for the 12 months ended Aug. 31.

The company, national distributor and investment manager of the United Funds group of mutual funds, reported earnings of 99 cents a share a year ago.

Cameron K. Reed, president, said the company's net income for the year totaled $1,941,026, compared with $1,026,062 a year ago.

In its Annual Report, the company pointed out that cash sales of the funds in the United group totaled $161,435,000, an increase of 57 per cent from the previous year. Face-amount sales of the firm's contractual plans aggregated $160,687,000, up 8 per cent from a year ago.

State Chamber Reports on New Freeport Legislation

Freeport legislation will be one of the major items on the legislative agenda of the Colorado State Chamber of Commerce when the State Legislature convenes in January. A spokesman for the Colorado State Chamber of Commerce said the organization had been working with Senator Ted Gill, (R-Hillrose) Chairman of the Interim Committee on Property Tax of the Colorado Legislative Council in drawing up an acceptable resolution calling for such legislation that is anticipated to be introduced early in the next session of the General Assembly.

The Colorado State Chamber of Commerce has worked for several years toward the passage of legislation that would make Colorado a Freeport State, one that allows merchandise moving in interstate commerce to be stored in transit and not be subjected to the inventory tax or at least be taxed at a substantial reduction.

It is also the intention of the proposed legislation to protect home industry by allowing merchandise manufactured in Colorado to be shipped out of the state to receive the same consideration.

Don McMahon, Chairman of the State Chamber's Economic Development Council, pointed out that each state surrounding Colorado has a freeport law and that Colorado has long been handicapped in industrial development as a result of the present taxation placed on transit merchandise. He deemed the Freeport Law an important link in the chain of economic development program if Colorado is going to attract new industry.

The Gill committee has been meeting with representatives of business and industry for more than a year to develop an equitable law.

Gill pointed out that the resolution, as it now stands might conceivably reduce the community tax base in some areas but it was felt that the overriding considerations for the continued development of the community would provide a healthy economy and allow Colorado to meet the challenge of other states in the development of new industries within the state. One of the most important advantages emphasized by the committee was that it would eliminate the inequitable tax burden that exists today. Gill said that with the reduction of the evaluation on inventories from thirty - five to thirty per cent of the inventory assessment, the major objective remaining is to establish this program to provide for a class of freeport property and assessing such property at a ratio of five per cent of the amount invested.

The State Chamber of Commerce pointed out that present plans call for this legislation to be fully implemented by 1966.

Canada General Fund Reaches Record High

The net asset value per share of Canada General Fund reached a record high Aug 31, the end of the Fund's twelfth fiscal year.

The share value was at an all-time high of $20.10. This compares with $16.37 on Aug. 31 last year, and $19.24 three months earlier on May 31.

William F. Shelley, president noted that Canada General Fund has shared in the advance to record levels of high quality Canadian common stocks. The rise in stock prices, he said, reflects the increased earnings and dividend payments of Canadian companies.

During the past fiscal year, Canada General Fund realized long - term capital gains of more than $1 million. This amounted to 39 cents per share which was distributed to shareholders Sept. 30. A record number of over 90 per cent of the shareholders accepted the distribution in shares rather than cash.

SECOND FINE FOODS RESTAURANT — Shown standing in the completely remodeled dining room of his second Colorado Springs restaurant is Vincent Assaiante, owner of Vincents Fine Foods. The new dining room, located in the 100 block of East Cucharras Street, features a new Chef, Richard Clark, who specializes in spaghetti meat sauce, does his own baking, and who produces a fully varied menu. Assaiante, whose first restaurant in the Colorado Springs area, at 4204 N. Nevada Ave., has been open for almost three years now, says the new eating place has been opened for the convenience of his patrons. They held their Grand Opening last weekend.

Local Men Tour Arctic Defense Units

Two Colorado Springs businessmen and Brig. Gen. Charles H. Roadman, Air Defense Command surgeon, were literally sitting on top of the world during a recent visit to Arctic units of the 26th Air Division.

Henry Browne, vice president of the Colorado Springs Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and Gene Becker, a partner in the Davis-Becker Construction Co., were two of seven distinguished citizens who made a ten - day inspection and orientation visit to northern outposts of the Air Defense Command.

They joined Maj. Gen. Von R. Shores, commander of the 26th NORAD Region-26th Air Division (SAGE), on the more than 10,000 mile inspection tour at Otis AFB, Mass. Here, they witnessed a wing review honoring retiring military personnel. They also learned of the operation of the 551st Airborne Early Warning and Control Wing.

From Otis AFB, the group visited Stewart AFB, N.Y. This is headquarters for the 26th NORAD Region-26th Air Division (SAGE). They toured the nerve center of the Semi Automatic Ground Environment system located here in a huge windowless concrete building.

At Goose AB, Labrador, the next stop on the itinerary, the trio saw air defense in action. They visited the 641st Aircraft Early Warning and Control Squadron. At this radar site they saw an unknown target plotted on a radar scope and witnessed the 59th Fighter Interceptor Squadron scramble against this unknown. They also received a briefing on the responsibility of the Goose NORAD Sector, a joint US - Canadian air defense unit.

Flying over the Arctic Circle, the group arrived at Sondrestrom Air Base, Greenland. This base is a link in the communications network of the 26th as well as a major aerial port on over the pole flights.

Flying over the Greenland icecap, several miles thick in places, the group landed at Dye 2, one of four DEW Line units located in Greenland. They toured the six - story composite building which sits on eight steel columns. These columns keep the building from settling into the icecap.

Continuing northward, the inspection party visited Thule AB, Greenland, site of the free world's largest electronic detection facility, BMEWS (Ballistic Missile Early Warning System).

On the flight from Thule to Cambridge Bay, Northwest Territories, Canada, the inspection party passed over the magnetic North Pole.

At Cambridge Bay, a DEW Line main station was visited. Cam, as it is referred to, is one of the stations in the DEW Line that extends across North America. At Cam, the group visited an Eskimo village and a Hudson Bay Trading Post.

The final stop in the Arctic trip was Elmendorf AFB, Alaska. While at Elmendorf, the group toured nearby Anchorage, scene of the recent Alaskan earthquake.

On October 7, the party arrived at McChord AFB, Wash., the last stop on a ten-day orientation and inspection trip throughout the Arctic.

The government, pharmaceutical industry and major voluntary health organizations are spending $1.5 billion this year on medical research, a report from the National Health Education Committee shows.

Holstein Bull Receives Recognition

BRATTLEBORO, Vt — Silver Medal Production Sire recognition has come to a Registered Holstein bull owned by The Henry Farm, Greeley, Colorado and George O'Neal, Kingman, Kansas reports the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. Silver Medal designation is based on the demonstrated productive ability of the bull's registered daughters on official test, as compared with that of their dams and the production level of the entire Holstein breed.

Valentine Hazelwood Belburke 1304513 (GP) is now among the comparatively few sires to be so honored in the history of breed improvement work of the Holstein Association.

Advanced Registry, Herd Improvement Registry, or dairy Herd Improvement Registry testing records are used in at least 10 pairs of daughter-dam comparisons in calculating the sire's recognition. The group of daughters must have at least 15 production records from the three official testing programs, as supervised by state agricultural colleges.

All records of both daughters and dams are converted to the commonly - accepted two - milkings - per - day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis for comparison purposes in Silver Medal Production recognition.

On this basis, Valentine Hazelwood Belburke's 20 daughters compiled an official production average of 14,400 lbs of milk and 518 lbs. of butterfat.

Farm Census Studies State Agriculture

How many farms and ranches has Colorado lost since 1959? Is the State's farm population rising or declining? Which Colorado county has the highest income from the sale of farm products?

The answers to these and to thousands of other questions about farming will be provided by the 1964 nationwide census being conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census as authorized by Act of Congress. This year's census to be taken in November and December is the 18th in a series which began in 1840. Census Bureau officials regard it the most important ever taken, because it will measure the increased mechanization and other sweeping agricultural changes of recent years.

Each farmer will receive by mail within the next few weeks his 1964 Census of Agriculture questionnaire. He is asked to fill in the answers to the questions and then keep the completed form until a census taker comes for it. Census Bureau officials request the cooperation of all farmers in furnishing complete and accurate replies to the questions about their farms, so that the published reports will be an accurate statistical record of farming in 1964 in each county, each State, and in the Nation.

Most of the 1964 census questions are similar to those asked in 1959, dealing with crops and livestock produced and sold, use of farm land, selected farm machines on hand, and so on. A new look appears in questions about income received from recreation services, such as hunting or fishing privileges or board and room provided sportsmen, and questions about chemical sprays or dusts used during the year to control crop or livestock pests and diseases.

Rancher Rejects Drouth Feed Assistance

Tom Lasater, Matheson, has said that the Lasater Ranch is clearly ineligible for drouth feed assistance.

In a letter to the Elbert County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, Simla Lasater said that the Livestock Feed Program Application contains the following statement: "That I am unable to obtain sufficient feed for my livestock from normal suppliers without imperiling continuance of my farming operations, defaulting on existing financial obligations, unsound borrowing, or excessive disposal of livestock."

Lasater said that the applicant had to sign a similar provision during the drouth feed program of the early and middle 1950's, under the Eisenhower administration. "As is well known," he added, "the large majority of livestock owners in America, though clearly ineligible, none the less signed the application and obtained this drouth feed program assistance."

In the letter Lasater said, "May we suggest to your committee that you may wish to set an example for the other Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committees of America and refuse to accept applications signed by livestock owners who are clearly ineligible, due to the terms of the above quoted statement."

Tractors Now in Industry

DENVER — The growing importance of the light industrial tractor and equipment industry won official recognition recently when the Farm Equipment Institute changed its name to the Farm and Industrial Equipment Institute.

The action was announced by the organization's executive committee as being effective at the conclusion of its annual convention here.

Merritt D. Hill, president, said, "The action is a logical step and formally recognizes the shift in the tractor and equipment industry in the United States. The growth of the industrial segment of this industry has been rapid and today almost one third of all tractors sold in the U.S. are for industrial use."

He pointed out that the Institute had been aware of this shifting pattern and in 1959 established the Industrial Equipment Manufacturers Council to give industrial equipment manufacturers greater representation in the organization.

Academy Has Timber Management

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, COLO—-President Johnson's official proclamation marking Oct. 18-25 as National Forest Products Week has special meaning to the Air Force Academy.

The Academy has approximately 10,000 acres of forest land or land suitable for growth of trees. A working timber management program is carried out by the Base Civil Engineer.

Under the plan, some 40,000 two-year old ponderosa pine seedling were planted during the past year and an additional 75,000 will be planted in 1965.

In addition to planting trees for future use, Civil Engineer forces removed 2,015 ponderosa pines infested by Black Hill bark beetles.

A continuing campaign to halt the spread of the dwarf misletoe parasite resulted in removal of an additional 10,000 trees.

The battle against the bark beetles is carried on in cooperation with state and federal service agencies which have been attempting to reduce danger of an outbreak of epidemic proportions.

Academy support of conservation practices such as the timber management plan resulted in award of the Thomas D. White Conservation Award for the 1962 program.

Farm Bureau Drives for Membership

County Farm Bureaus throughout Colorado are finalizing plans for their 1965 membership drives to be held in late October and early November, according to Dick Neubauer, Colorado Farm Burea field activities manager.

Neubauer points out that this year county Farm Bureaus are placing special emphasis on location and identification of each farmer and/or rancher in the individual counties. The individual producer's major commodity interest is also being recorded in preparation for the drive.

The membership committees are gearing their efforts toward making 1965 the 25th consecutive year of membership growth for the state's largest general farm organization.

"The farmer - by - farmer survey will give membership workers an accurate picture of the potential Farm Bureau members in their area for the first time in the history of Colorado Farm Bureau," Neubauer said.

"Farmers and ranchers have long felt the need for a strong organization to represent them in the legislative halls and to provide other services. While no one has to belong, 1,628,295 of the nation's farmers and ranchers have chosen Farm Bureau to represent them. This is three out of every four farmers in the nation who belong to any general farm organization.

"The strength of Farm Bureau can be continued through a strong membership enrollment program, and Colorado farmers have done a fine job of continuing the effectiveness of their organization, Neubauer said.

Eastern Slope Judging contest will be held May 8 at Simla. Last year 22 counties participated. Plans are underway for a judging class for women. The council agreed to purchase ribbons for the top ten girls placing in 4-H judging at the contest.

Historian Melva Karnes presented Vernice Jones a scrapbook of all the club activities during her tenure of office.

Standard score sheets will be judged and plans underlined for next year's lessons at an executive committee meeting Nov. 19 at Emmabelle Hartwell's home in Simla.

In appreciation for her fine leadership the past two years the council presented outgoing President Jones with an exotic African philodendron for her solarium. She presented her past officers with a sachet candle.

Council meeting date has been changed from the second Monday to the second Friday of the month. The next quarterly meting will be 11 a.m. Jan. 8 at Matheson with Midway Club as hostess.

In 4-H Club work, a comprehensive system of awards is provided by scores of donors convinced that 4-H is an investment is future security.

Chenoweth's Record Topic For Evans at Club Meet

Frank Evans, Democratic candidate for Congress today stated that unless America can meet the challenges of the next ten years, it will fall from its position of leadership of the Free World.

Evans spoke to the Optimists Club of Colorado Springs at a 7 a.m. breakfast meeting at Ruth's Oven.

Evans, a 41 year old state legislator and banker emphasized the need for economy in government and stated that the major problem facing this country is equipping the 25 million more people who will be in the labor force in the next ten years to be able to participate in the free enterprise system. "Jobs are becoming more and more technical and therefore we need more and better schools and technical training facilities.

Evans also gave his audience a description of the economic makeup of the congressional district.

Evans criticized the voting record of the incumbent congressman, J. Edgar Chenoweth as a record of oposition to legislation vitally needed by this congressional district. He cited specifically the 1963 Tax cut, 1963 Vocational Educational Assistance Act, 1963 and 1962 Student Loan program, 1964 Economic Opportunities Act known as the "War on Poverty," 1963, 1961, 1960, 1958 Area Redevelopment Acts, 1962 seven per cent Investment Tax credit.

Evans also named some other legislation on which Chenoweth voted no. He specifically named: The Mutual Security Acts of 1951 and 1953, The Marshall Plan which prevented a Communist take - over in Europe after World War II, Aid to Greece and Turkey when they were being overrun by Communist guerillas, Voice of America.

Evans explained the importance of the War on Poverty and told how it was related to the Area Redevelopment Act and the Civil Rights Act. "These Acts, working together, will go a long way toward helping that segment of our population who are locked out of the opportunity to participate in the free enterprise system," said Evans.

During the question and answer period, Evans stressed the need for legislation and personal work which would go towards eliminating those conditions in our society which make the young people of America feel a contempt for law and order. He said that no responsible person condones violence in the streets by teen-age rioters but that mere personal example is not enough if teen-agers are uneducated and unemployed. Chuck Byerly, program chairman for the Optimists, introduced Evans.

Evans to Make Copter Tour For Farm Vote

In a bid for the eastern Colorado farm vote Democratic Congressional candidate Frank Evans leaves Colorado Springs by helicopter Friday for a prop stop tour of Simla, Limon, Akron, Burlington and Flagler.

Evans supporters will be on hand at the Colorado College football field Friday morning to see him off on the five-county tour.

The sendoff was organized by Colorado Springs Teen Dems and Colorado College Young Dems in cooperation with El Paso County Evans for Congress committee.

Evans will speak briefly on the football field before take-off at 9 a.m.

El Paso County Evans for Congress Chairman Harold Grueskin said all Evans supporters are invited to the take-off on East Cache la Poudre.

The Evans helicopter will put down first at Simla at 10 a.m. Following a brief talk there he will stop at Limon at 11 a.m. and fly on to Akron at 12:45 p.m. for lunch. From there he will go to Burlington at 3:45 p.m. and on to Flagler at 5 p.m.

Scheduled to coincide with the helicopter tour is an auto caravan which leaves Pueblo early Friday morning.

The caravan will join the Pueblo Democrats in Limon and in Burlington and in Flagler. In the caravan, made up of five cars and a bus with free coffee and doughnuts, will be Mrs. Evans, Paul Bechtol, chairman of the third congressional district Democratic central committee, and other supporters.

Captain Jim Carroll, senior guard-linebacker from Atlanta, Ga., and Tom Kostelnik, senior center-linebacker from Hiller, Pa., each made eight tackles for Notre Dame as the Irish beat Wisconsin in their football opener this fall.

Donations for Tippit Family Distributed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Money donated to the family of Patrolman J. D. Tippit, killed Nov. 22 while trying to arrest Lee Harvey Oswald, was distributed Tuesday by Dist. Court Clerk Bill Shaw.

Marie Tippit, widow of the slain police officer, received a check for $312,916.62. In addition, $330,946.46 was given Mrs. Tippit and J. Donald Squibb, trust officer for Republic National Bank, to be held in trust for the three Tippit children — Charles Allen, Brenda Kay and Curtis Glenn — and $3,716.16 went to the city police and firemen's welfare fund.

Distribution of the money was authorized by Dist. Judge Dee Brown Walker last week.

Guy Fawkes Day is celebrated Nov. 5 in Great Britain. Fawkes was implicated in the gunpowder plot in 1605 designed to blow up Parliament and King James I. "Remember, remember the 5th of November" is the slogan of the holiday.

No 'We Wuz Robbed' Attitude at Olympics

TOKYO (AP)—You may get an argument from that Spanish boxer who slugged the referee, but these are turning out to be the vegetarian Olympics.

No beers. Ouch.

Where are those bitter bellyaches of other years? The protests that caused whole nations to stop speaking to each other?

Why even the officials are being applauded here. And in case you think that is because the Japanese never argue with the umpire, you should know that the fans at a baseball game in Hiroshima got so incensed over a decision the other day that they burned the grandstand down.

But not at the Olympics. There has not been one resounding "we wuz robbed" at these games to date, expect for that Spanish fellow.

And just between us, he couldn't fight his way out of a soggy furoshiki, which is what they use for paper bags in these parts.

Life is serene off the field, too.

If there is any champagne swinging going on, nobody has been caught at it, if anybody's coming home to the Olympic Village at 3 a.m., he's being mighty quiet about it.

In short, a happy Olympics.

It didn't look like one at the start. There were a bunch of Indonesians and North Koreans hanging around the week before the Games opened, trying to get in even though they were ineligible. They didn't make it, and it wasn't any surprise to the Koreans.

They passed around invitations to a farewell party that they had run up in the old Communist print shop at home before they left.

A lot of people went to the party, because it is always a pleasure to see the North Koreans go.

They are sort of the abominable no-men of North Asia. The men only spit at all non-Communists, and the girls look like the finalists in the contest for Miss Hideous of 1953.

There's a reason for all this — and it probably is that at these Olympics there's something for everybody.

The Americans can be found grinning at the track and field and swimming events.

The Russians are grabbing off the boxing titles.

The Japanese think wrestling is the real thing.

The New Zealanders pop up when Peter Snell runs. Girl runners have made the British beam.

There's water polo for the Hungarians, javelin throwing for the Finns and gymnastics for all the red-blooded boys.

In gymnastics they take these girls that are built like crazy and put them in these little bitty black skintight suits and they squirm around and it's all very inspiring.

Of course, if that's a sport, they should give Miss Universe a gold medal.

End Advance

Frazier Boxes Way to Finals

TOKYO (AP) — Joe Frazier of Philadelphia stormed into the Olympic heavyweight boxing finals with a second-round technical knockout Wednesday night over the strong Russian champion, Vadim Yemel Yanov.

Frazier was handing the Russian such a beating in the second round that after 1:59 the Russian's trainer threw the red and white towel into the ring telling the referee to stop the contest.

The Russian had taken two counts of eight in that round.

Frazier became the only U.S. boxer to reach the finals and will meet German Hans Huber Friday night for the gold medal.

Brumel Nips Thomas Again; U.S. Sets Relay Record

By TED SMITS

TOKYO (AP) John Thomas, once the world's premier high jumper, leaped into the gathering gloom in Tokyo's National Stadium today, matched Valery Brumel's best effort and once again came out a loser.

The 6-foot-5 Cambridge, Mass., youth and his old tormentor, the Russian Brumel, both cleared 7 feet, 1¾ inches in the Olympic high jump. Both missed at 7-2¾ and the gold medal Thomas so desperately wanted, the medal he wanted to vindicate himself for a third-place finish in Rome four years ago, was decided on fewer misses at the height of 7-1. On that basis, Brumel won it.

Their dramatic duel, which was among the opening events on this final day of track and field competition in the 18th modern Olympic games, ended in the darkening shadows of early evening. In between:

1, The United States, helped along by the best-ever showing of its sailors, gathered in 14 more medals and pushed its leading total to 86, including 34 gold. Russia, with only two full days of competition left, has 63, including 19 gold.

2, Sprint gold medal winners Bob Hayes and Henry Carr, anchored the U.S. 400- and 1,600-meter relay teams to expected victories. The time for each was a world record, 39 seconds flat for the 400, 3:7 for the 1,600.

3, Slim, 32-year-old Abebe Bikila, a sergeant in Emperor Haile Selassie's palace guard, became the first man to win the classic Olympic marathon twice, and did it in the fastest time ever recorded for the 26 mile, 385-yard test 2:12:11.2.

4, The heavily favored U.S. women's 400-meter relay team, with sprint gold medalists Wyomia Tyus and Edith McGuire running in key roles, was upset by Poland in world record time of 43.6 secods.

5, New Zealand's Peter Snell, the world record-holder at a mile, dashed America's hopes in the 1,500-meter run when he clipped of the metric mile in 3:38.1 and added that gold medal to the one he won in the 800 meters. Dyrol Burleson, the lean Oregonian who was the only one of a select U.S. trio to make the finals, finished fifth.

But the show-stealer was the dramatic duel between Thomas and Brumel, the personable young Russian who holds the world's record of 7-5¾ in the high jump.

It started four years ago in Rome. Thomas, then a 19-year-old Boston University student, was hailed as the greatest high jumper the world had ever known. The Olympic gold medal was all but conceded to him.

But two Russians, the winner Robert Shavlakadze and Brumel, came from nowhere and finished one-two. Brumel went on to raise the world record time after time, and time after time beat the frustrated Thomas in their head-to-head meetings.

This time it looked like it may be different.

When the bar reached 7 feet, ¼ inch, five men Thomas, Brumel, Shavlakadze, John Rambo of Long Beach, Calif., and Sweden's Stig Pettersson were still in competition, and all cleared the height.

Shavlakadze and Pettersson went out when it reached 7-1. Brumel cleared that height on his first attempt. Thomas missed once, then went over. Rambo made it on his third try.

At 7-1¾, Brumel and Thomas both went over on their first try. Rambo missed three times and took the bronze medal. Then it went to 7-2¾. Brumel missed three times then turned his back while Thomas made his final, futile attempt to wipe out four years of frustration and missed.

So the determination of the winner went back to misses at 7-1, the one slip Long John made.

Even more impressive to the marathon-mad Japanese, however, was the triumph by the loose-striding Bikila, who was the surprise of the 1960 Games when he ran barefoot over the Apian Way and won the classic test of endurance.

This time he wore shoes on his trek through residential and industrial sections of Tokyo adjoining the Olympic stadium. Leading most of the way, he followed a wedge of white helmeted motorcycle policemen through a throng of howling Japanese, estimated at one-half million, before turning back into the stadium for a final lap around the track.

Hayes, the bulky Florida A&M flash who won the 100-meter gold medal, was given full credit by his teammates for the 400-meter relay world record.

"He got the stick three yards back," said No. 3 man Dick Stebbins of Los Angeles. "I got off a perfect pass to him, but it was up to Hayes to do the rest." He won by two yards.

Gerry Ashworth of Haverhill, Mass., and Paul Drayton of Cleveland were the other members of the team that reclaimed the title the United States lost in Rome on an illegal baton pass.

Carr, the 200-meter gold medalist from Detroit, swept in some five yards ahead of Great Britain for the 1,600-meter record. He was supported by Mike Larrabee, the 400-meter winner from Fillmore, Calif., Ollan Cassell from Nutley, N.J., and Ulis Williams of Compton, Calif.

Poor Baton Exchange Beats U.S. Relay Team

TOKYO (AP) — "We blew it on the last baton exchange," said the head coach of the U.S. women's track team today after a disappointing second place finish in the 400-meter relay. "Marilyn just couldn't get rid of the stick."

Ed Temple referred to Marilyn White of Los Angeles who passed off to Edith McGuire on the final leg of the race.

Valuable time was lost after the Americans had forged into the lead, and Miss McGuire finished a step behind Poland in the Olympic gold medal event.

The Poles, timed in 43.6 seconds, and the Americans, timed in 43.9, both shattered the world record.

The four American girls were so distraught over their setback that they refused to go to the interview room — an Olympic ritual for the three medal winners.

Miss White even failed to join her teammates in the dressing room after the victory ceremony. She grabbed her clothes and beat it for the village.

"Marilyn was upset, but she had no reason to be," Temple said. "This is a four-woman race. No one should take the blame."

Miss McGuire, who ran anchor, and Wyomia Tyus, who ran a brilliant second leg, remained under the stands. Willye White, who led off for the Americans, went up into the stands to watch themen's 1600-meter relay.

"You Americans are just a bunch of cry-babies," yelled some foreign newsmen when the American girls boycotted the press conference. "If you don't get first, you can't take it."

The U.S. team, which has won the Olympic crown by beating the Russians the last three times, has a string of 46 consecutive victories since the sport was added to the Olympic program in 1936.

Hayes Gets Credit From Teammates for Relay Win

TOKYO (AP) — "Give all the credit to Bob Hayes," said Gerry Ashworth, the second man on the four-man U.S. 400-meter relay team that broke the world record in the Tokyo Olympics Wednesday with a 39.0 clocking.

"He got the stick three yards behind at least," said Paul Stebbins, the third man.

"I got off a good pass to him — well, it was a perfect pass, but it was up to Hayes to do the rest."

And Hayes, the world's fastest human who grabbed the 100-meter earlier in 10.0, tying the world record, said, "I just gave it all I had. I wanted that one. I wanted it bad."

Hayes hurled the baton high in the air as soon as he was safely over the finish line.

Ashworth and Paul Drayton, who ran the opening leg, made a good baton exchange in the final, after nearly messing up the trade in the heats.

Did they practice?

"No," Ashworth said. "We just played it by ear. Paul seemed to pull a little coming up to me, and I got a slow start. It was a good thing I did, because it worked out just right."

Drayton said he got a poor start and was a little tired at the end of his leg.

"Paul ran a nice leg," Drayton said. "I guess we all did. You don't break the world record otherwise. But it was Bob who did the job."

Ara Not Talking About Bowl Offers

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP) — He has lost none of his loquaciousness. William Shakespeare probably would have called Ara Parseghian a noble speaker.

Entrusted with Notre Dame's football fortunes, Parseghian is as quick-witted as ever. However, probably because he holds the biggest college football coaching job in the country, he now weighs his answers.

On the question of Notre Dame taking a bowl bid, Parseghian frowns and says, "I am not in the position to make any commitment. Bowls are an administrative problem. Such talk is premature. My first accomplishment is to produce a winning team."

So far, so good. Notre Dame has played four games under Parseghian and won them all. The Irish, who once made the football world tremble at the mere mention of their name, are ranked second nationally, behind Ohio State.

The 41-year-old Armenian appears a bit gaunt. There are new lines in his face. Yet, he has lost none of his confidence, drive or energy.

Has he instilled some of this spirit into the Fighting Irish?

"The Notre Dame spirit was never dead," Parseghian emphasizes. "It's like that of the service academies. It's a spirit which never can be achieved at co-educational institutions."

While speaking, Parseghian gestures with his left hand and sticks the right hand into his pocket. He takes his early success cautiously.

"Remember, at Northwestern there were a couple of seasons when we won our first five and six games only to get smashed the rest of the way."

He's working against such a catastrophe happening at Notre Dame.

"Our first teams on offense and defense are good," he says. "With a big lead against UCLA, I sent in the alternate units. I wasn't satisfied. They made mistakes. We must develop depth. The only way to get it is to play the alternates and have them succeed. So far, it hasn't worked."

In addition to a great defense, much of Notre Dame's success has hinged upon the passing combination of John Huarte to Jack Snow.

Bockhorn Paces Royals To NBA Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arlen Bockhorn came off the bench during the first half Tuesday night to score 22 points and spark the Cincinnati Royals to a 121-113 victory over Los Angeles in the only National Basketball Association action.

The 6-foot-4 former Dayton standout, more or less a forgotten man on the Royals' star-studded squad, provided the impetus that enabled Cincinnati to fight off the stubborn Lakers.

As usual, Oscar Robertson with 33 points led the scoring. Burly Wayne Embry pulled down 23 rebounds. Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Dick Barnett with 26, 24 and 21 points, respectively, were the Laker leaders.

It was Cincinnati's second victory in three games. Los Angeles is even at 1-1.

Tonight's schedule finds Los Angeles at Baltimore and San Francisco at Detroit.

The Royals took command after a see-saw first half and pulled away from the Lakers late in the third quarter before a Cincinnati crowd of 4,275. The Royals' biggest margin was 12 points with 1½ minutes left.

Falcons Seek New Twist For Boston College Game

By LOY HOLMAN

Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

Just about every approach in the book has been tried in the first fives games on the Air Force football schedule this season, which must leave the Falcons scratching for a new plan of attack as they prepare for the second half of the slate starting this Saturday at Boston College.

In the five games so far, the strategy has backfired slightly three times and thus the Air Force Academy is looking at a losing record for the first time since 1961. In all but one of those games the Cadets were underdogs — but this seems to be a trend that will continue through most of the season.

About the only feather in the cap of the Cadets this year was the opening game against Washington at Seattle. In that one they found little success moving consistently against the highly-rated Huskies so they settled on matching strengths with the West Coast club and beat them at their own specialty — defense. A field goal by Bart Holaday and an intentional safety was the only scoring in the 3-2 upset.

Next came the powerful Wolverines of Michigan, and the strategy at Ann Arbor was to try and keep up on the scoreboard with the Big Ten opponent. It didn't quite work, however, as the Falcons evened their record with a 24-7 setback although running up good yardage on a passing attack from quarterback Tim Murphy.

Colorado State U. opened the home stand for the Academy, but the Fliers found a stunting Aggie line more than they had bargained for. Had it not been for five fumble lost, the score undoubtedly would have been much higher. But the AFA considered itself fortunate to escape with a 14-6 victory in one of the few games tabbed as a favorite.

Notre Dame proved much stronger than anyone had anticipated, as shown by their No. 2 rating nationally in the Associated Press poll this week. And in this case it was a matter of trying to "psycho" the Cadets into an extraordinary game as everyone around the Academy was obviously pointing for this "big one."

It worked to a certain point with the AFA still within catching distance at halftime with the Irish holding a 14-7 lead, but a controversial play in which it appeared Notre Dame was offsides was allowed and the ensuing score seemed to break the spirit of the Falcons. From then on it was a matter of taking chances to get back into the game, and interceptions set up two more touchdowns as the Fighting Irish won 34-7.

Then last week, the Academy went to a conservative approach in hopes that Missouri would continue its error-filled ways of the first four games. This, too, didn't work out as the Tigers made no costly mistakes with their specialty of ball-control and Mizzou displayed great poise in hogging the ball for a 17-7 victory.

The ground game finally came around for Coach Ben Martin's Falcons, at least in the first period as they used a new "I" formation and drove right in for a quick TD, moving 54 yards with only one pass. But when a second drive of the quarter stalled out at the MU 25, the momentum switched and Missouri took charge for the rest of the game.

This conservative approach was a prime topic for the "second-guessers" following the game last Saturday, as many questioned the strategy of not trying for the equalizer in the closing moments of the first half. The debated series came when Air Force took a kickoff with a minute remaining and trailing 10-7.

Some felt they should have at least tried to complete the "long bomb" pass for it possibly could have resulted in a go-ahead score just before the intermission and an emotional lift for the team. They figured the worst that could have happened would have been an intercept — but if the pass was long enough it wouldn't have been any worse than a punt. As was, the Falcons ran three plays into the middle of the tough Missouri line to run out the clock.

They got the ball only long enough for a short series of downs and a punt in the third period, and Missouri not only went ahead by 10 points but also forced the AFA to stay on defense until they had the wind in their face and needing two touchdowns to win in the fourth quarter.

So now the task is at Boston College and the Air Force will be desperate to win, not only to get back even in the won-lost columns but also to bolster the somewhat sagging morale of the team. It looks like no easy chore.

Boston College may have seemed like a near cinch at the beginning of the season, especially since they graduated All-America quarterback candidate Jack Concannon, who is now playing with the pros. But the Eagles appear even tougher than a year ago.

BC has a 2-2 record, but has made some strong teams work plenty to get their points. Boston opened with an upset of national importance by stunning Syracuse 21-14, then played tough against a good Army team in a 19-13 loss, came back to give Tennessee all it wanted in a 16-14 defeat, and then last week blanked Cincinnati 10-0 on a muddy field.

This defense of the Eagles is all the more imposing when it's remembered that the Air Force has scored more than one touchdowns in only one of their games — against underdog CSU. They have but five TDs in as many games, and only one via a running play.

Sprint Race Feature at Kennel Club

The running of the Sprint Championship at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club is set tonight in the featured ninth race.

Hitting the Peak Course oval of 1710 feet will be, (in post position order), the Cen-Tex Kennel's Rolling Julius with 12 starts that have seen him finish with six wins and two tallies each for place and show; Intelligency comes from the Lawrence Hughes Kennel and has been out 13 times on the RMKC oval this year, two wins, two place finishes and a show have been his in the money tallies.

Cecil Wilson's Tough Stock will be making his 15th trip from the boxes and has chalked up three wins, five place finishes and a show honor. Mr. Cane, a kennel-mate of Tough Stock has been out 16 times and finished four times as winner, three times as the bottom half of the quiniela and twice for show.

Frank Pierce's Another Johnny with 16 times out has made an even dozen finishes in the money and his line reads eight wins, two places and two shows. Betty Babe, a kennel-mate of Another Johnny has 10 money finishes from 16 efforts, or a 5-4-1 line.

G. A. Alderson's Dan Onery has five wins and a place finish from 16 times out while Vennie Kaup will represent Don Abernathy and is the junior of the brace of eight with only seven starts. Six times in the money have come from four wins and a couple of shows.

Three Grade A events, long races over the Springs Course of 2080 feet and the Sprint Championship are all combined to make tonight's 11-race card full program.

MANAGER SMILES—Red Schoendienst smiled as he answered questions Tuesday at a press conference after being named manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. Schoendienst, a star second baseman for the Cardinals for more than a decade and a coach for St. Louis since 1962, replaces Johnny Keane. Keane resigned Friday, the day after St. Louis beat the New York Yankees in the World Series, and was named Yankee manager Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Tulsa QB Starts Fast In Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Thanks to a record-smashing performance last Saturday, Tulsa quarterback Jerry Rhome is off to the fastest start of any passer in major college football history.

Figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau show that Rhome has completed 86 passes for 1,053 yards and 15 touchdowns in leading Tulsa to three victories in four games.

All three categories represent the strongest start any passer has ever made. By adding 95 yards rushing as Tulsa crushed Louisville, 58-0, Rhome also took over as the nation's leader in total offense with 1,148 yards. That, too, is a record start.

Other individual leaders are Stanford's Ray Handley in rushing for the fourth straight week and Mississippi's Frank Lambert in punting for the first time. Rhome, of course, leads in passing.

A 6-foot, 181-pound senior from Dallas, Rhome is the fourth total offense leader in the first four weeks of the season. Such a scramble occurred before only in 1955.

PPL Schedule

Huskies Could Clinch Tie With Win Tonite

This could be the most thrilling day of Florence's Pikes Peak League life, or it could turn the PPL gridiron standings into a four-way nightmare.

Florence can clinch a tie for the championship by beating tough Crowley County tonight at 7:30 p.m., but only if Manitou Springs can top Fountain. That would put Florence ahead at 5-0, with Salida, which plays winless Buena Vista this afternoon, in second at 4-1. Fountain and Crowley County, with 3-2 records, would virtually be eliminated from the title chase.

But Crowley County has been hard as brick on defense the past three weeks, and could upset the Huskies. And Fountain, a slim pick to beat the Mustangs, could team with the Chargers to throw the loop into a four-way tie that probably wouldn't be resolved until the last day of the season.

The Huskies kept its four-game winning streak alive by beating Manitou, 33-0, last week and eliminating the Mustangs from crown competition. Dick Shadwell regained his position he pushed over three TDs. Shadwell now has 43 points for the year.

Crowley County has a three-game streak going and has allowed only one touchdown during that string. But the Chargers have scored only 36 points for the year, and probably will need to come alive offensively to beat the Huskies. Florence has scored an average of 24.5 points per game during league play.

Fountain and Manitou play in the other night game, starting at 7:30 p.m. The Trojans could get only a first-quarter touchdown by Dan Grigsby last week in tipping punchless Leadville, which has scored six points in league action. Manitou has been shutout in its last two games and will be seeking to loose three of its backfield which still remains in the list of the top 15 scorers.

Salida has been keeping pace with Florence, despite a poor non-conference showing. But the Spartans have to rely on Fountain and Crowley County to entertain hopes of gaining the district title. Buena Vista has not played a close game since a 7-7 tie with Center.

In the other game this afternoon, Fowler travels to Leadville looking for its hecond win. Fowler has played some of the league leaders closely, losing to Fountain, 14-12 and Salida, 13-0.

Salida's Keith Baker scored both Spartan TDs last week and moved to second place in the scoring lists with 36 points. Joe Martinez of Fountain, who led last week, dropped tot hird with 26 points. Fowler's Joe Kirgan is fourth with 24 points and Danny Wheeler of Manitou Springs is fifth with 21 points.

Schoendienst Gets Job As Cardinals' Manager

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Albert (Red) Schoendienst, a Huck Finn who made the baseball field his playground for more than a decade, may not be doing much hunting, his favorite pastime, this winter.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals named him manager of the club for 1965 and, he said, "You know I will give 100 per cent." The new job for one of the National League's finest second basemen is expected to take most of his time.

"I already canceled plans to go duck hunting tomorrow," he said at a press conference called Tuesday at the Cardinal offices. The likeable redhead still laughed and grinned through his boyish-looking face, but it was a new Schoendienst who sat in a business suit and quietly and seriously talked about his new job.

"It's good to have a fine ball club to begin with," he said, "but it would have been easier to take over a last-place team than a first place one.

"I know what the ball players can do. I know they'll give me 100 per cent because I'll be giving them 100 per cent."

But after so many years as a player and then a coach with the Cardinals, how strict will he be?

"The rules will be set and I'll expect the players to stick with them," he said.

The 41-year-old Schoendienst, of nearby Germantown, Ill., signed a one-year contract Tuesday almost at the same moment Johnny Keane was inking a similar pact in New York to manage the Yankees.

Keane resigned as manager of the Cardinals last Friday, the day after his club had beaten the Yankees in the World Series. Yankee Manager Yogi Berra was fired the same day.

Tuesday's activities completed one of the most unusual series of hirings, firings and resignations ever to occur in baseball.

It apparently also climaxed an amazing reorganization of the Cardinals which began with the firing of General Manager Bing Devine in August.

Thunderbirds Shake Off Three Game Losing Streak to Pace SCL Chase

Early this fall Wasson's Gib Funk looked over a young football squad and surmised that "if these kids come along we might do something by the middle of the season."

It was a typical Funk statement at the time but now the middle of the season is here and true to his word the Thunderbirds are "doing something."

What they have done in the past four weeks is shake off a three game losing streak and take command in the South Central League race. Last Saturday's 14-0 victory over Pueblo East not only moved the 'Birds into a position as the team to beat; it served proof that they may be pulling together all the parts of the game that has made them the most continually successful club in the SCL the past four seasons.

Friday night the Thunderbirds will return to their home field for a game that the Wasson staff has awaited for nearly a year. Pueblo Centennial will come to Wasson Stadium not only as one of the prime challengers in this fall's race, but also as the defending champions who yanked the crown away from the Colorado Springs team in rude fashion a year ago.

Centennial, a unit that many SCL followers feel is currently the best of the Pueblo entries in this year's struggle, gained its first win over a Wasson team in 1963 and it was recorded by a 41-7 score during a battle that was obviously going to decide the champion. From that game, the Bulldogs went on to win the conference crown, upset East Denver in the semifinals of the state playoffs, and eventually wind-up as the Class AAA runner-up in Colorado.

Wasson and Centennial both entered the 1964 race as question-mark teams. Both had lost heavily through graduation and there was considerable question as to whether either would be able to school young athletes swift enough to seriously challenge such veteran clubs as Pueblo East.

Centennial lost a narrow decision to the Eagles early in the season, but quickly bounced back to whip Palmer, tie Trinidad, and then bury Pueblo South last Friday. Wasson meanwhile honed its offense against the state's two top teams, Aurora Central and Lakewood, and entered play with a seemingly disastrous 0-3 record. Since that time the 'Birds have pulled out narrow victories over South and Central, soundly trounced West Denver in a non-league break, and followed with last Saturday's impressive 14-0 shutout of East.

Thus the Thunderbirds move down to Friday night's contest against Centennial in a position where a victory would place them within sniffing distance of the title. Nevertheless, the Bulldogs' continual improvement promises to turn this week's game into one of the most crucial of the campaign. A win for Wasson would shove the T-Birds into a really commanding position, whereas a Centennial victory would drop the race back into a hectic scramble.

Wasson's victory over East was a product of many of the ingredients that have made the Thunderbirds a fierce opponent for all comers in recent seasons. The 'Birds have returned to their crushing ground game of years past and also displayed the characteristically stiff Wasson defense.

Brummett Retains SCL Score Lead Despite Blank

Centennial's Jim Brummett failed to cross the goal line in his team's 25-0 romp past Pueblo South last weekend but the Bulldog star still managed to retain his South Central League scoring lead with 24 points in four games.

Wasson's Jim Smith and Mike Bosso of Trinidad, who were tied for second with 19 points each, also remained stationary. Smith did not score in Wasson's 14-0 triumph over Pueblo East and Bosso's club did not have a league contest over the weekend.

Bob Toof of Wasson who led the first week and Jerry Gutierrez of Centennial made the biggest advances. Toof's touchdown in the East game and Gutierrez's two scores against South moved those two into a fourth place tie with Verle Davison of South. All have 18 points.

To date, a total of 33 players have scored at least one point during the SCL season. Wasson the most players in the top 10, three, while Centennial and Trinidad each have two.

BACK

Greg Cramblit, the 198-pound bone-crushing fullback of Cheyenne Mountain, was the unanimous selection of the Gazette Telegraph sports staff for the Back of the Week honors.

Cramblit spearheaded the Indians stunning 27-7 triumph over Trinidad of the touted South Central League. The Cheyenne fullback scored all four touchdowns which came in the first half and ripped through the Miners' defenses for 183 net yards rushing on 18 carries.

Cramblit has been the ground gaining mainstay for the Will Rogers League pace-setting Cheyenne grid team and the 1963 All-State fullback is one of the top scorers in the WRL circuit.

Others considered for the award: Ben Bryant, Palmer; Jim Smith and Bob Toof, Wasson; Chris White, St. Mary's; Bill Wood, Air Academy High.

LINEMAN

Claude Spears, defensive right end for the Palmer Terrors, earned Lineman of the Week honors for his performance last week in Palmer's 15-9 victory over Pueblo Central. He was chosen by the Gazette Telegraph Sports Department.

Spears tied the score for the Terrors in the fourth period when he tackled the Central quarterback in the end zone for a safety. Palmer went on to score the winning touchdown. The 169-pound senior also does the kicking chores for Palmer. He booted punts of 53, 19, 51 and 53 yards for a 46.5 average. One punt went into the end zone after travelling 71 yards. Another went out of bounds at Central's three-yard line.

Other linemen nominated for honors following last week's play were Mike Conley of Cheyenne Mountain, Dan Gleason of St. Mary's, Yogi Grandcourt and Charlie Steel of Wasson, Ron Petty of Widefield and John Parsons of Academy High.

Cramblit, Nigbur Lead WRL Individual Scoring

Cheyenne's bull-dozing fullback Greg Cramblit and Widefield's 208-pound fullback Tom Nigbur held the Will Rogers League scoring lead with three TDs apiece for 18 points.

Ted Garcia, Cheyenne's front line quarterback, has 17 points via two touchrowns and five PAT boots.

There are five footballers with two touchdowns apiece including Doug Heyliger, Cheyenne; Rudy Hallenbeck, Academy High; Eldon Lee, Widefield; and Dennis Meese and Dave Eslick, Canon City.

Terrors to Tangle With Scrappy Trinidad, Friday

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Because of a safety and four Central fumbles, Palmer and Trinidad will be playing off noncommittal 1-1-1 records Friday night.

Palmer beat winless Pueblo Central, 15-9, last week after cominging into the game with an 0-1-1 record in South Central League play.

But the Miners figure to be more than ordinarily tough on their home field after losing to Cheyenne Mountain, 27-7, in a non-league game.

Terror coach Bill Westbay felt his team did not play its best during the first half last week, but improved considerably the last 24 minutes. The ball exchanged hands ten times the first half, five times on punts, twice on fumbles, twice on field goal attempts (including the only score of the first half on Central's 22-yard field goal), and once on downs.

Palmer didn't wait long in the second half before going ahead on the scoreboard, however. The Terrors took the opening kickoff on their own 35 and pushed 65 yards in 11 plays. But the next time Palmer got the ball, it was a different story as the Terrors fumbled after three carries and the Wildcats drove 38 yards for their only touchdown.

Then Claude Spears, who played outstanding defense at right end all night, came through. After Spears' field goal attempt was short, he knocked quarterback Emil Lenerand into the end zone for a safety and tied the score.

Palmer came to life and drove from Central's 45 to the ten, where another field goal attempt was wide. But Central fumbled on the first play following and the Terrors drove from the 19 to ice the game.

Palmer was grateful for four Central fumbles, one of which set up a touchdown and two others which set up field goal attempts. But the Terrors had more to be grateful for with their own play. They were penalized only 1½ yards, and that was on Central's extra point attempt. The Terrors were offside twice, but on Lenerand's quarterback sneak, interior line held at six inches.

The Terror defense was at near-top form. After Central gained 72 yards rushing th efirst half, the defense stiffened and the Wildcats wound up with a net 40 yards on the ground. Prime ball-carrier for Pueblo was Lenerand, subbing for shaken-up Dave Struthers. At one point in the first half, Lenerand had 66 yards on five carries and threatened to break open the game single-handed. But he finished with 11 yards in 21 carriers, due to the hard rushing tactics of the Terrors.

Spears improved his punting average considerably with three punts exceeding 50 yards. The senior booter now has an average of 36.8 yards on 23 kicks.

Fullback Ben Bryant continued to lead the Palmer ground game with a total 627 yards in 147 carries. Bryant's two touchdowns against Central gave him a total of 42 points for the year, also high on the Terror squad.

Sammy Davis Provides Big Musical Punch

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Sammy Davis provides the big punch in "Golden Boy," a disheveled prizefight musical that premiered Tuesday night at the Majestic Theater.

As an aimless Harlem youth turned killer in the fistic jungle, Davis is highly effective in this much-desired chance at Broadway dramatic action. He also gives a-plenty with more familiar song-and-dance talents, although handicapped by traces of vocal fatigue brought on by extensive tryout revisions.

The play, which Clifford Odets wrote in 1937 about a violinist who becomes a slugger, has been adapted in uncertain fashion by William Gibson. Motives are left murky events are choppy.

Main attention focuses on the explicit biracial romance between the boxer and his manager's mistress. Pula Wayne gives an equivocal portrayal as the blonde self-styled tramp, and sings with torchey fervor. Kenneth Tobey gets little to do as a smalltime ring boss.

The other key performer in the Charles Strouse-Lee Adams score is Billy Daniels, the night club veteran who enacts an uptown racketeer who muscles in for financial and racial gain.

There's a collateral plot interest in broader contemporary considerations of civil rights, climaxed by a production number of sardonic sting, "Don't Forget 127th Street."

Other standout items in the strongly rhythmic melody parade are "Night Song," "This Is the Life" and "No More."

Arthur Penn directs in fitful fashion and most of Donald McKayle's dance numbers rely on frenetic movement for impact. The big bout which climaxes the show, however, is a marvel of acrobatic stagecraft by Davis and Jaime Rogers.

The whirlwind windup makes you almost forget that too much of "Golden Boy" belongs on a preliminary card.

Betsy Drake Decided to Go Back to Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I woke up one morning and decided I wanted to go back to work," says Betsy Drake, explaining why she is making her first movie in six years.

Betsy is the cello-voiced beauty who became an instant star when she appeared opposite Cary Grant in "Every Girl Should Be Married." The title proved prophetic and in 1949 she became Mrs. Cary Grant. Her acting career was intermittent after her marriage; then, six years ago, she quit entirely.

"My marriage was breaking up, and that consumed all my energies," she said. "And I was tired of what went with acting in Hollywood."

Four years passed before she filed for divorce from Grant — "I still love him," she explained at the time. After another two years she decided to return to films. She talked to George Chasen, Cary's longtime friend and agent, who recommended an agent for her.

The first job turned out to be "Clarence, the Cross-Eyed Lion" with Marsnall Thompson and the title performer at MGM.

"I suppose one of the things that made me want to go back to acting is the work I have been doing at the neuropsychiatric clinic at UCLA," she said. "I have been conducting classes in which the patients act out their hostilities instead of just talking about them. Nanette Fabray has been working there this year, too.

"What I do is assume the role of villain in the dramas, rather than subjecting the doctors and nurses to that position. I take the part of mothers, fathers, mothers-in-law and others with whom the patients have hostilities. Oh, we have some pretty wild sessions some days."

You would think that the experience might have Whetted Betsy's appetite for doing serious roles. It hasn't worked out that way.

"If I do some more acting in films or television, I would want to do comedy," she remarked.

"Somehow I've never been able to take drama seriously. When the script gets to be dreadfully tense and dramatic, that's when I feel like bursting out laughing."

Betsy also writes. She claims to have little success with it, but the fact remains that she has sold two short stories to magazines, plus the original story for Cary's film "Houseboat." She used to script the "Mr. Blandings" radio show they did together.

"I write from 9 to 12 every morning," she said. "The rest of the day I keep busy. I decorate, I do a lot of cooking, I enjoy housework. Of course, this is all marking time until I find a husband."

Then she does intend to marry again?

"Of course," she replied, citing the title of her first movie.

Israel Wins Support For Joining Group

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel has won Latin-American support for its bid to take part in meetings of the 76-nation African-Asian and Latin-American group. It has been barred because of Arab objections.

Latin-American delegates said their 20-nation group had decided at a meeting Tuesday to urge Israel's admission because it is a developing nation.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Voice of Experience!

DEAR ABBY: I have never written a letter like this before, and I do so now hoping it will help other young people to get on the right track. I am 20, and come from what could be called an average middle-class family. I have been doing a lot of reading lately, including your column in the Boston Record-American. I recognize myself in so many of the letters other young people have written to you, such as, "My parents won't let me have a car," or, "My parents want to know where I am every minute," or, "My parents place too many restrictions on me."

Well, I had my own car at 16. I kept any hours I pleased, and I got what I wanted about 90 per cent of the time. If my parents refused me anything, I either argued, or I sulked until I got my own way. How wrong I was. I wish you would tell parents that they would do their children a tremendous favor if they learned how to say "NO" to them . . . and stuck to it.

A few months ago I would have laughed at this, but my outlook has changed.

I love and respect my parents, Abby. But I didn't become a spoiled self-centered brat all by myself. I had plenty of help.- Sincerely, R. J. E. IN CELL 63, Norfolk County Home of Correction & Jail, Dedham, Mass.

DEAR ABBY: I am a college freshman and there is a young man I see every day that I would like to get to know better, but I don't know how to go about it. He is a foreigner, and hasn't been in this country too long, but he looks like he would be very interesting. We are both in the same chemistry class. How do I strike up a conversation with him? — INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: Ask him to light your Bunsen burner. It could start a low flame.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in hopes that you can help this young couple who are on the verge of getting adivorce. They were married just after the boy graduated from high school. One month later their baby boy came. The following year the girl finished her senior year of high school. Her mother cared for her baby during school hour Now the young husband wants "out." He says he doesn't love the girl and never did, and no one is going to make him stay married to her. He refused to see a minister or anyone for counseling. He went to a lawyer and is determined to get his freedom. The wife is heartbroken. She says she still loves him and will do anything to save her marriage. Can you help them, Abby? —BOGGED DOWN

DEAR BOGGED: NO ONE can help unless the parties involved want to be helped. The young wife can make it difficult for her husband to obtain the divorce, but she can't force him to live with her. Assuming she could "save" the marriage, a young husband who feels trapped and bitter would make a poor husband and a worse father.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Popcorn Poll Shows Johnson Is Leading

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The "popcorn poll" shows President Johnson leading Sen. Barry Goldwater in 43 states, with 77 per cent of the popular vote.

Popcorn distributor Jim Blevins said today that almost 100,000 persons had voted in the poll by mailing in coupons distributed in theaters and supermarkets.

He said Johnson's percentage of the popular vote had grown from 65 in the first tally, but that Goldwater was now ahead is five states: Louisiana, Mississippi, Maryland, New Mexico and Utah. He said the candidates were about even in Oregon and Wisconsin.

Georgia's popcorn eaters, in the Goldwater column at the start, have switched to Johnson, he said, and Alabama remains in the Democratic column.

Liz Taylor Party To Movie Dispute

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor must be made a party to a legal dispute between MCL Films and 20th Century-Fox over receipts from the movie "Cleopatra."

The decision Tuesday by a federal court means Miss Taylor might testify if the suit reaches trial. The suit was filed by MCL, a Swiss corporation of which Miss Taylor and her former husband, singer Eddie Fisher, own 85 per cent. It demands an accounting of receipts.

The court said Miss Taylor's participation in the suit was necessitated by 20th Century Fox's counterclaim for more than $51 million.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: I am afraid that I have committed the sin against the Holy Ghost. That is, thoughts, convictions and ideas about certain things being wrong for me to do. Can I be forgiven? —P.J.

ANSWER: Many people are confused at this point. There is only one reference to what we call "The Unpardonable Sin", and it reads: "Verily I say unto you, All sins shall be forgiven unto the sons of men, and blasphemies wherewith soever they shall blaspheme: but he that shall blaspheme against the Holy Ghost hath never forgiveness, but is in danger of eternal damnation: because they said, He hath an unclean spirit."

The Scribes had said: "He is possessed by Beelzebub, and hath by the prince of devils casteth he out devils." Mark 3:

[illegible] was called the god of filth." The sin that was called "unforgiveable" was saying that the Holy Spirit through which Jesus cast out demons and performed his miracles, was "the god of filth", rather than the spirit of God and the Spirit of Holiness. In all of my experience I have never heard of anyone committing this sin, and since the "god of filth", Beelzebub, is unknown to us today, it is unlikely that anyone would commit this sin in our times.

There is one sin however, that is unforgivable . . . and that is the deliberate rejection of Jesus Christ as Saviour.

The central theme of the Gospel is forgiveness. "Be it known unto you therefore men and brethren, that through this man (Christ Jesus) is preached unto you the forgiveness of sins."

CAUTION URGED

NEW YORK (AP) — Referral selling is "gimmick selling" designed to entrap the gullible, warns the National Better Business Bureau, Inc.

The organization reports that thousands of consumers are being victimized annually by a scheme in which the salesman asks prospects to supply a list of names of friends and neighbors. For each one who buys the product they are told they will get a commission and in this way get the article free.

Deluded by this "something for nothing" snare, the Bureau explains, victims sign a conditional sales contract and become obligated to pay for something they would not otherwise buy. The promised commissions do not materialize, and the monthly payments become the burden of the buyer.

SALT-WATER IRRIGATION

BELTSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Recent experiments conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Service here show that certain vegetables that have a "good tolerance" of salty or brackish water in emergency irrigation are beets, kale, asparagus, and spinach.

Radishes, celery, and green beans can not live when irrigated with salty water.

Radioactivity From Red China Counted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau says radioactive material from Red China's atomic test blast last Friday may already have started to pass over the United States, but lack of rain could mean very little will fall to earth.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists added Monday that any fallout from the "low yield" test would not be likely "to cause any undue health hazard" in the nation.

Fallout specialists of the Weather Bureau said if the explosion tossed any radioactivity into the atmosphere the cloud would have been expected to enter the North American continent just north of the U.S.-Canada border "sometime between noon and midnight" Monday.

As of Monday afternoon, Public Health Service officials said they had not detected any increase in radiation.

GIANT CROSSWORD PUZZLE

IVANGRAD, Yugoslavia (AP) —Zvonko Janah of this Mountain town has constructed the biggest crossword puzzle in Yugoslavia. It took him six months to make the huge puzzle with 40,000 squares — 37,828 whie and 2,172 black.

No one has tried to solve it yet. There are 8,469 questions to be answered.

Modern World Is Studied by Vatican Council

By GERALD MILLER

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Questions of war and peace, love and marriage, science and progress, and brotherhood and justice came before the Vatican Ecumenical Council today as the Roman Catholic assembly turned to a study of the church in the modern world.

The study being undertaken by the 2,500 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica is one of the most sweeping ever to be considered by an ecumenical council in the church's 2,000-year history.

The opening lines of the schema on the modern world struck the keynote of the document.

They said: "The joys and the griefs, and the hopes and the anxieties of modern man, especially of the poor and the afflicted, are no less the anxieties and the hopes, the griefs and the joys of this council."

Some council officials warned against expecting too much from the long-awaited document. They said there is much it does not do. Others termed the document a brilliant example of the church's ability to think and speak in fresh, modern terms of significance to men everywhere.

Te schema is a direct appeal to the world's half billion Catholics to work for brotherhood with all men. It calls on Catholics to take a continuously active part in the formation of public opinion, in science and culture, in programs to improve community life, and in movements aimed at ending racial, social and economic discriminations.

The schema acknowledges the growing pressure of questions in the minds of many Roman Catholics about birth control. While it proposes no drastic turnabouts in church bans on contraception, it holds out the prospect that changes may be in the offing.

It urges doctors, sociologists, scientists and married people to collaborate with theologians in exploring the issue. It says that out of such study solutions "can still be hoped for."

The schema also calls for religious liberty for everyone to enjoy freedom of conscience.

It urges Catholics not to expect their priests to have all the answers for all the questions and tells them they must often decide for themselves, in the light of moral teachings, wherever specific church law does not apply.

Addressing itself to all humanity, the schema deplores the horrors of concentration camps, white slavery and war. It describes the use of nuclear arms as "an enormous crime" and declares that the world's powers must work to ban and destroy them.

On the international level it exhorts all peoples to render aid to nations where there is misery and want.

Main Course Would Be Crow, Miller Declares

By CHARLES DUMAS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Businessmen backing President Johnson may dine at the White House if Johnson is elected but the main course would be crow, says Rep. William E. Miller.

The Republican vice-presidential nominee said Monday night that those who expect continued business prosperity under the Johnson administration would be sadly disillusioned.

In an attack on the President's spending policies, Miller painted a picture of rampant inflation with "printing-press money" — dollars so devalued that they would be "handled in bushel baskets."

Miller resumed his verbal pummeling of the Johnson administration in a statement issued as he arrived here from San Diego, where he had enjoyed a two-day rest from campaigning.

His schedule in the San Francisco area included speeches today at San Jose and Oakland before flying east to Cleveland, Ohio.

Addressing a crowd of about 2,000 in the San Mateo High School Monday night, Miller evoked laughter and applause with barbs aimed at Pierre Salinger, the Democratic candidate for U.S. senator.

Salinger, former press secretary to Johnson and the late President John F. Kennedy, has been the object of "carpetbagger" charges since he returned to California to run for the Senate.

Miller said that Salinger would not be able to vote for himself in California because he could not meet residency requirements.

"If he can't vote for himself I don't see why anybody else would," Miller declared.

He called Johnson's plan for "The Great Society" a "blueprint for the most powerful government and the most expensive government and the most regulatory government in the history of the United States.

A Sunburn In Winter?

Winter wind and sun bring with them the danger of overexposure... but we act accordingly by applying protective lotions and ointments beforehand. Protecting our general good health requires the same amount of vigilance. To be on the safe side, use similar preventive measures... see your doctor periodically, and if he prescribes for you bring your prescriptions to us for prompt, accurate service.

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?*

If you take vitamins, yet still feel tired—you may need more than vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Check with your doctor. He may tell you that your worn-out feeling can be due to a shortage of iron.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! That's because GERITOL not only contains 7 vitamins but, in addition, supplies the amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! Seven times the iron in a pound of spinach! It is this rich source of iron, that makes GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is in your bloodstream beginning to carry strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests!

Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement. Remember, vitamins alone can't do it! But GERITOL, with its rich source of iron, can help you regain your strength and energy.

Check with your doctor and if iron-poor blood is your problem, you should take fast-acting GERITOL every day. Feel stronger fast—in just 7 days—or your money back from the maker. Get high-potency GERITOL, liquid or tablets, today!

History Students Make Tour of Region Saturday

When pupils at North Junior study Colorado history, they believe in seeing the places where a lot of that history was made.

At their own expense and on their own time, 90 pupils and their teachers boarded two buses Saturday for an all-day trip to Victor and Cripple Creek.

Along the way they stopped at Midland Lakes, once a station on the Midland Railway, and at the old railroad tunnel.

Another stop was Poverty Gulch before reaching Victor. At every stop, teachers supplied the background and history connected with the places. After a box lunch, the classes spent the afternoon exploring Cripple Creek.

Robert Nelson, North Junior teacher, said a number of the pupils are relative newcomers to Colorado, and this was their first trip to the famous Colorado gold camps. The result was more interest in the history of the state.

Back in the classroom this week, pupils who made the trip are sorting out their impressions and making meaningful interpretations of the experience.

Along with Nelson, other teachers who accompanied the pupils on the field trip were Miss Laurine Haggert, Joe Simansky and Miss Mary Graves.

"Students will refrain from their affections for one another while in the student area, as this is neither the time or place to associate on intimate terms."

Burglarized Money Thrown on Street

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A white-haired man gleefully threw dozens of $20, $10, $5, and $1 bills out of his car window as he drove slowly along Sacton Street Tuesday night, shouting "Here! Here!"

The bills were gathered up by youngsters who followed the car down the street.

Shortly before the incident, police said, a resident of a nearby street had reported his home burglarized of $942 — in small bills.

Tossing Egg at Barry Was Just 'Excitement'

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP) — Ann Ellen Christensen, 20, of Newell, Iowa, says she was just looking for excitement and had no personal motive when she tossed an egg that hit Sen. Barry Goldwater during a campaign visit here last Friday.

The incident will cost Miss Christensen a $50 fine, or 15 days in jail if she doesn't pay up by next Friday. This was the ruling Tuesday when she pleaded guilty in Municipal Court to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Miss Christensen apologized to the Republican presidential nominee by letter, saying:

"This was strictly an impulse action and was not meant as a personal reflection to you in any way. On behalf of myself and everyone else in Sioux City, I ask that you forgive this impulsive action."

Miss Christensen, a business college student, shares a third-floor apartment with four other girls. She said she threw the egg from an apartment window. Police said witnesses saw her do it.

Rockets Controlled By Astronaut Voices

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Astronauts someday may maneuver in space with back-pack rockets controlled by their own voices.

David N. Lovinger, an engineer in Honeywell, Inc.'s space and armaments section, said in a recent technical paper that a vocabulary of 10 words could be programmed into an electronics pack that would control tiny jets for travel between space vehicles.

In time, Lovinger said, the system may be perfected so a housewife can say "Open Sesame" to her refrigerator door.

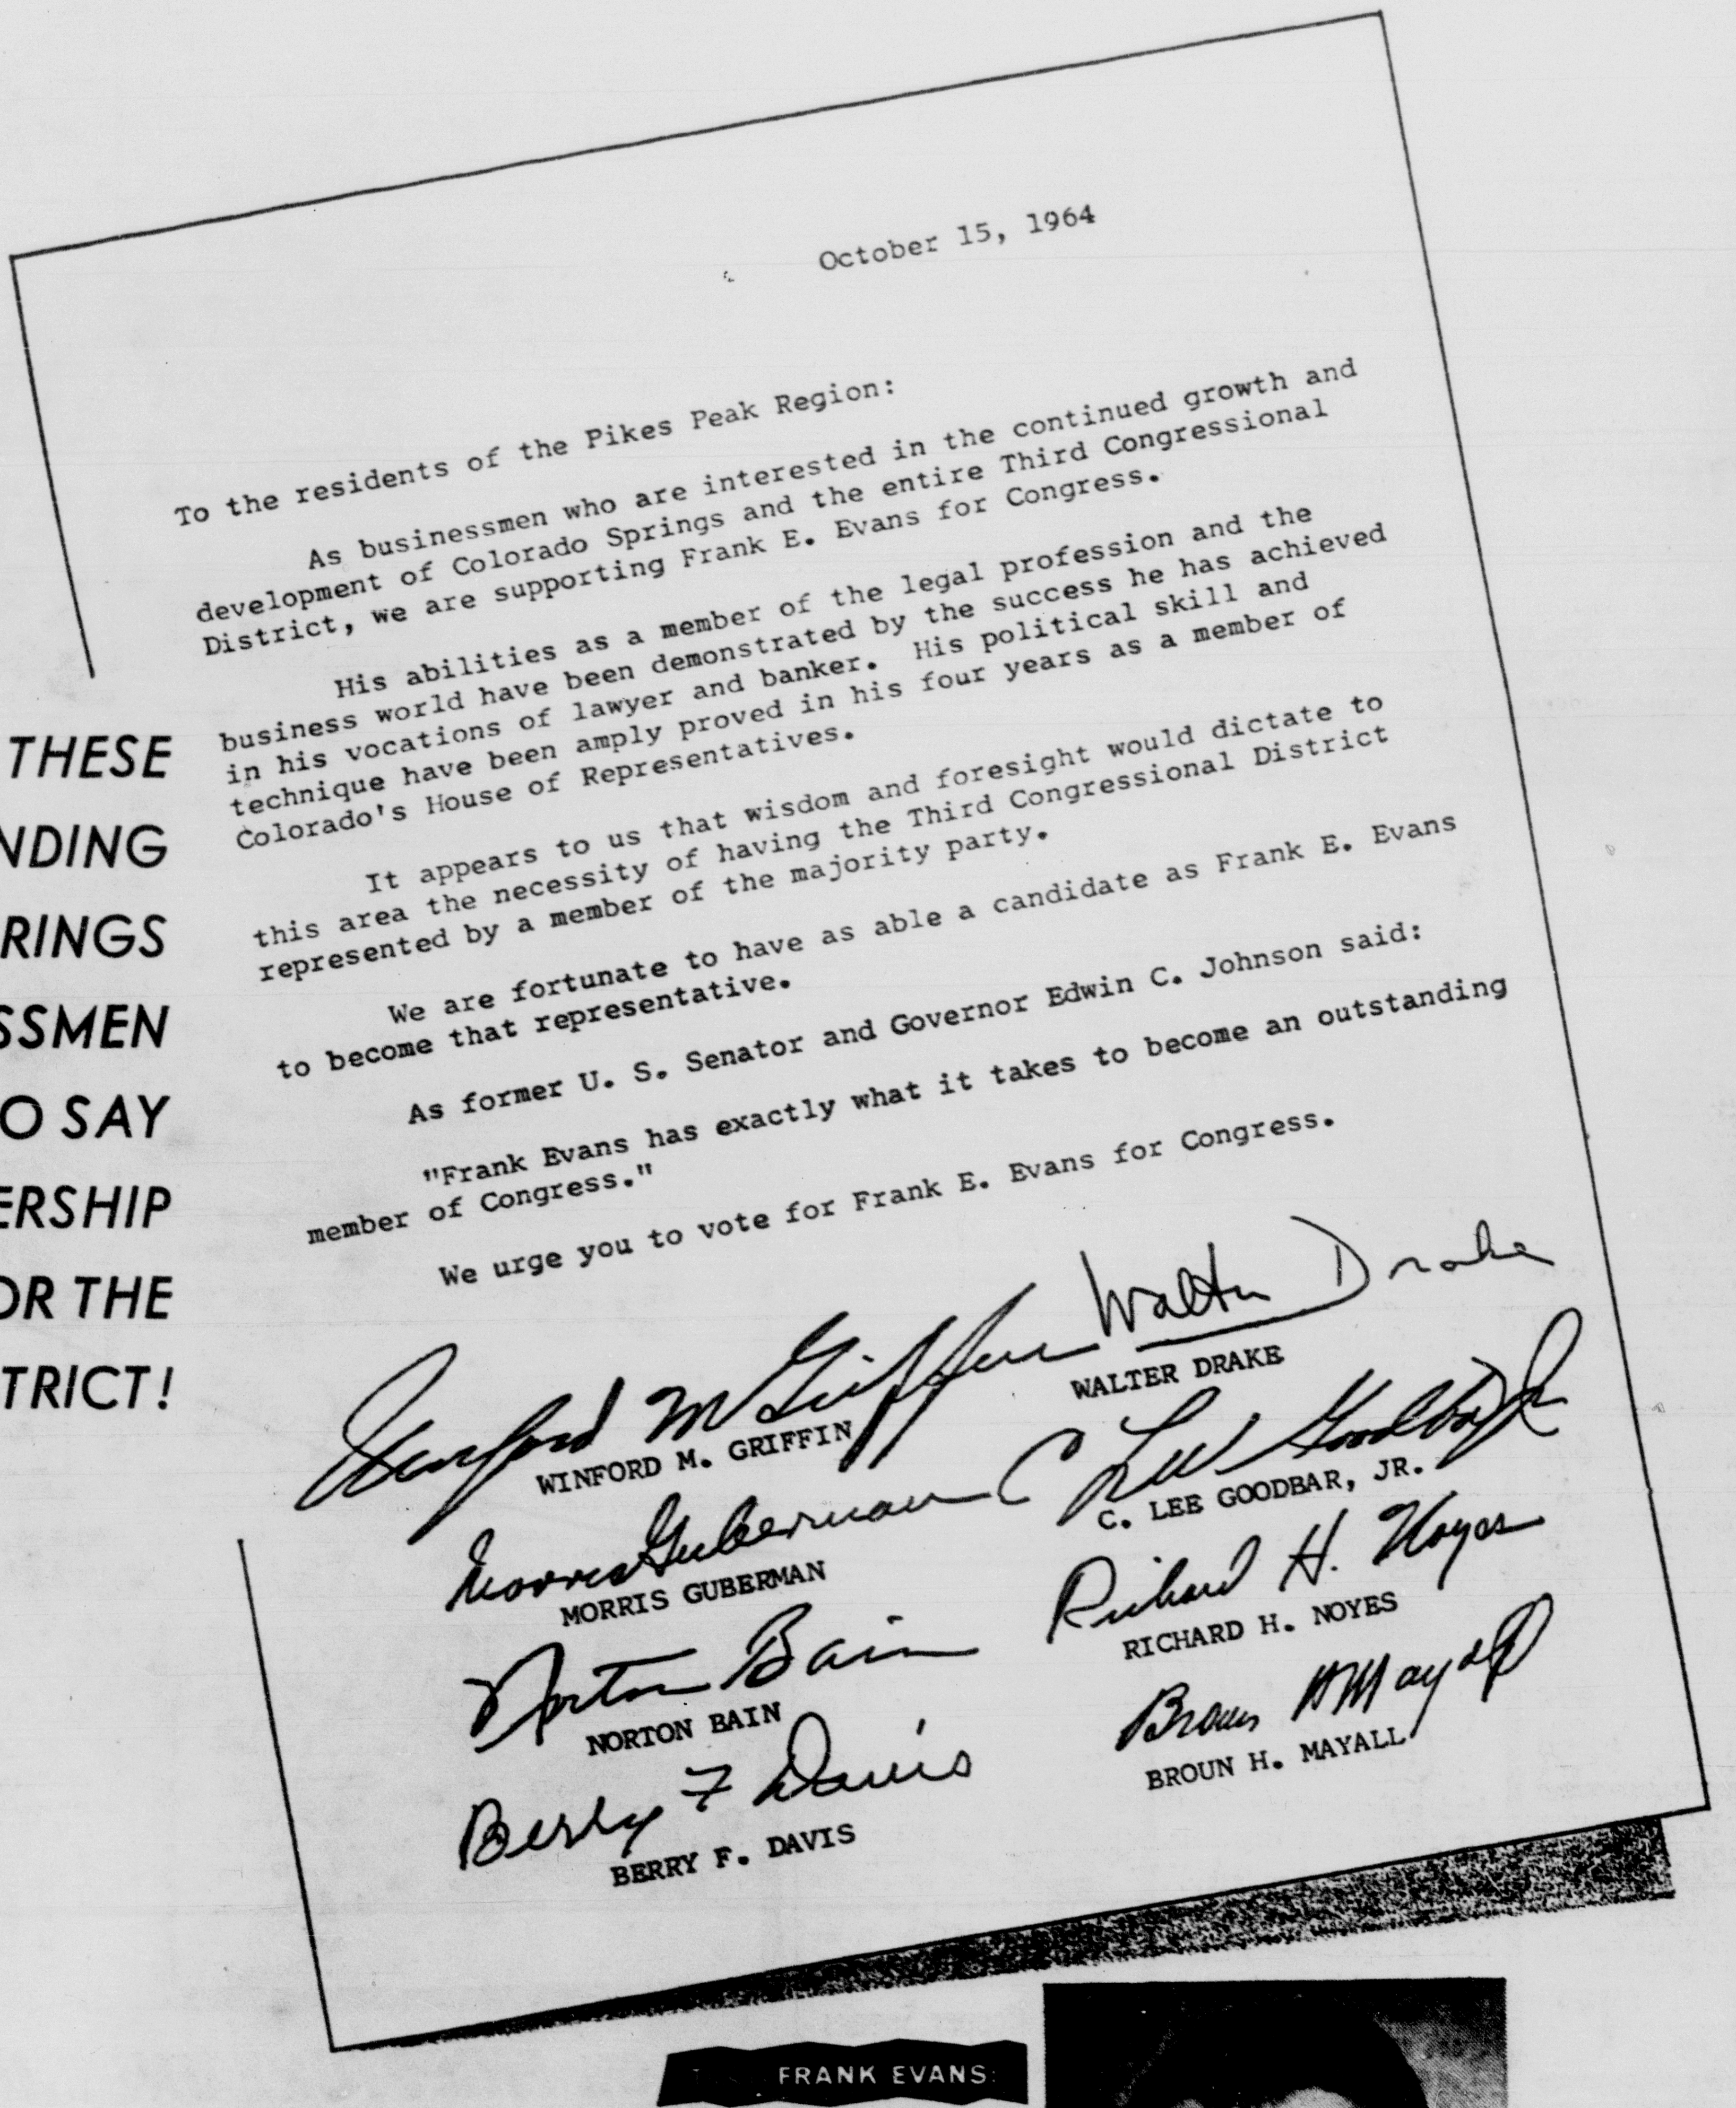
LEADERSHIP:

a quality that is recognized by other leaders.

READ WHAT THESE OUTSTANDING COLORADO SPRINGS BUSINESSMEN HAVE TO SAY ABOUT LEADERSHIP FOR THE THIRD DISTRICT!



October 15, 1964

To the residents of the Pikes Peak Region:

As businessmen who are interested in the continued growth and development of Colorado Springs and the entire Third Congressional District, we are supporting Frank E. Evans for Congress.

His abilities as a member of the legal profession and the business world have been demonstrated by the success he has achieved in his vocations of lawyer and banker. His political skill and technique have been amply proved in his four years as a member of Colorado's House of Representatives.

It appears to us that wisdom and foresight would dictate to this area the necessity of having the Third Congressional District represented by a member of the majority party.

We are fortunate to have as able a candidate as Frank E. Evans to become that representative.

As former U. S. Senator and Governor Edwin C. Johnson said:

"Frank Evans has exactly what it takes to become an outstanding member of Congress."

We urge you to vote for Frank E. Evans for Congress.

What can one man do?

ONE MAN EQUALS ONE VOTE ON THE FLOOR OF THE U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. THE DIFFERENCE IS IN MEN.

THE DIFFERENCE IS BETWEEN THE MAN WHO DUTIFULLY CASTS A SINGLE, PARTY-LINE VOTE TIME AFTER TIME—AND THE MAN WHO ESTABLISHES THE LEADERSHIP THAT INFLUENCES THE MAJOR COMMITTEES THROUGH WHICH CONGRESS REALLY WORKS.

THE THIRD DISTRICT HAS NOT ENJOYED THE NATIONAL IMPORTANCE OF A COMMITTEE CHAIRMANSHIP IN MORE THAN 22 YEARS.

FRANK EVANS:

He was born 41 years ago in Pueblo, spent his early youth in Colorado Springs; received his Bachelor of Arts and Law degree from the University of Denver; was a patrol bombing pilot for the U.S. Naval Air Corps during World War II; has practiced law in Pueblo for 14 years, has been Chairman of the Board of the Arkansas Valley Bank since 1953; resides with his wife, Eleanor, whom he married in 1952, and their four children, at 3501 Northridge Drive, Pueblo; has served two terms in the Colorado House of Representatives, was minority floor whip during his second term and has served on committees for appropriations, education, finance, judiciary, local government and natural resources.

GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD HABITS

DR. OWEN H. WAGENSTEEN often asks his cancer patients how long they want to live. He says the question is answered in different ways but in substance it always is the same: "So long as the weather is fair and the company reasonably pleasant, do whatever you can to keep me alive. I want to continue living."

Most oldsters will buy this philosophy. Numerous books and articles have been written on how to live to be 100 but not enough has been said on how to enjoy the extra decades. No one wants to spend it vegetating in a rocking chair or lying in a stupor.

The greatest rewards come from remaining active and contributing to society. Boredom accelerates degeneration. Not everyone is blessed with the physical and mental faculties to carry on along these lines. The secret to emotional stability is to be happy for small favors, live for the day, and continue to seek friends. Stop complaining about being old. Just remember: "So long as the weather is fair and the company reasonably pleasant. . ."

The man or woman who is healthy at 70 has a better chance of enjoying the senior years than have those with bronchitis, arthritis, heart disease, or other chronic ailments. This is obvious, yet a healthy way of life is unattractive to many people; perhaps it does not come naturally to any of us. It is easier to blame bad health on lack of proper medical care, rather than to relinquish our bad habits.

The other side of the coin is forgotten because it is not popular. We refer to adults who smoke their way into bronchitis, lung cancer, and heart disease; and to those who indulge in the cardinal sins of gluttony and slothfulnes.

Meanwhile, children are permitted to eat sweets between meals without brushing the teeth; this encourages dental caries. Others wear shoes that leave their feet painfully deformed. In many poor, posture is neglected. Some parents must be prodded to get their children immunized against childhood diseases.

Many of the problems associated with old age could have been avoided if good physical and emotional habits had been acquired early in life. The individual is expected to make his own contribution to the healthier life.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

MILK AND ANEMIA

Mrs. E. C. writes: If a 5-year-old child drinks a large quantity of milk every day, could she develop anemia?

REPLY

Yes, provided milk makes up most of her diet. This liquid contains no iron, which explains why solid foods are given to infants early in life.

LIKES CHARCOAL

E. W. B. writes: My 11-year-old son loves everything burnt—toast, bacon, and steak. Does this craving indicate a lack of something in his diet?

REPLY

No. Old-time physicians often recommended this type of charcoal for the good of the intestine.

PEPPER-UPPERS

J. E. G. writes: Has a medicine ever been invented to energize the nervous system?

RELY

There are several "psychic energizers" that are related to the tranquilizers. Stimulants also fall into this category. Coffee, tea, chocolate, and cokes are old-timers.

BICYCLING IS SAFE

J. E. writes: Could bicycle riding over a period of years have a harmful effect on the prostate of a man of 45?

REPLY

No. This gland is well protected and is affected more by age and infection than by trauma.

FUND REPORTED

DENVER (UPI)— The First National Bank of Denver said it has received $7,934.78 in its Fund To Save The Trianon Mansion in Colorado Springs. Officials said that is an increase of $1,609 during the past week. Owners of the mansion — a replica of the French palace in Versailles—intend to raze it unless enough money is collected to move the building to Denver.

FRENCH AUTHOR — Dr. Germaine Bree, professor of French at the University of Wisconsin, will discuss "Camus and Sartre" at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Olin Lecture Hall on the Colorado College campus. The talk, sponsored by the Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar Program and the Colorado College Public Lectures Committee, is open to the public without charge. Miss Bree, a native of France and active in the resistance movement during World War II, is the author of a half dozen books on contemporary French literature.

No. 1

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Notice is hereby given that at the General Election to be held on the third day of November, A.D. 1964, there will be submitted to the qualified electors of the State of Colorado, the question of amending the Constitution of said state.

The authority for submitting such question is found in Section Two (2) of Article XIX of the Constitution of the State of Colorado, Article XXIII of the State Constitution, and in Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 3, of the Forty-Fourth General Assembly, which is in words and figures, following, viz:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3

SUBMITTING TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE STATE OF COLORADO AN AMENDMENT TO ARTICLES IV AND V OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF COLORADO, PROVIDING FOR A STATE AUDITOR UNDER THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT TO REPLACE THE AUDITOR OF STATE UNDER THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Forty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Colorado, the House of Representatives concurring herein:

Section 1. At the next general election for members of the general assembly, there shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state of Colorado, for their approval or rejection, the following amendment to the constitution of the state of Colorado, to wit:

Sections 1, 4, 6, and 21, of article IV of the constitution of the state of Colorado are hereby amended to read:

Section 1. The executive department shall include the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general, each of whom shall hold his office for the term of four years, commencing on the second Tuesday of January in the year 1967, and each fourth year thereafter. They shall perform such duties as are prescribed by this constitution or by law.

Section 4. No person shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant governor unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, nor to the office of secretary of state or state treasurer unless he shall have attained the age of twenty-five years, nor to the office of attorney general unless he shall have attained the age of twenty-five years and be a licensed attorney of the supreme court of the state in good standing, and no person shall be eligible to any one of said offices unless, in addition to the qualifications above prescribed therefor, he shall be a citizen of the United States, and have resided within the limits of the state two years next preceding his election.

Section 6. The governor shall nominate, and by and with the consent of the senate, appoint all officers whose offices are established by this constitution, or which may be created by law, and whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for, and may remove any such officer for incompetency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office. If during the recess of the senate a vacancy occurs in any such office, the governor shall appoint some fit person to discharge the duties thereof until the next meeting of the senate, when he shall nominate some person to fill such office. If the office of state treasurer, secretary of state, or attorney general shall be vacated by death, resignation, or otherwise, it shall be the duty of the governor to fill the same by appointment, and the appointee shall hold his office until his successor shall be elected and qualified in such manner as may be provided by law. The senate in deliberating upon executive nominations may sit with closed doors, but in acting upon nominations they shall sit with open doors, and the vote shall be taken by ayes and noes, which shall be entered upon the journal.

Section 21. The auditor of state elected at the general election in 1962 shall hold his office until the second Tuesday of January of 1967. In case of a vacancy in the office prior to said date, such vacancy shall be filled by the governor. The provisions of this amendment shall not affect the powers and duties of such auditor of state during his term of office, but thereafter such powers and duties as prescribed by this constitution and by statute law, and not by this amendment specifically transferred to other state officers, shall devolve upon such state officers as the general assembly may prescribe.

Article V of the constitution of the state of Colorado is hereby amended by the addition of a new Section 49 to read:

Section 49. The general assembly, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint, without regard to political affiliation, a state auditor, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of five years and until his successor is appointed and qualified. He shall be ineligible for appointment as state auditor for more than two consecutive terms, or for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as state auditor and for two years following the termination of his services as such state auditor. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. It shall be his duty to conduct post audits of all financial transactions and accounts kept by or for all departments, offices, agencies, and institutions of the state government, including educational institutions notwithstanding the provisions of section 14 of article IX of this constitution, and to perform similar or related duties with respect to such political subdivisions of the state as shall from time to time be required of him by law.

Not more than three members of the staff of the state auditor shall be exempt from the classified civil service.

Section 2. Each elector voting at said election and desirous of voting for or against the said amendment shall cast his vote as provided by law either "Yes" or "No" on the proposition: "An amendment to articles IV and V of the constitution of the state of Colorado, providing for a state auditor under the legislative department to replace the auditor of state under the executive department."

Section 3. The votes cast for the adoption or rejection of said amendment shall be canvassed and the result determined in the manner provided by law for the canvassing of votes for representatives in Congress, and if a majority of the electors voting on the question shall have voted "Yes", the said amendment shall become a part of the state constitution.

Indian Greetings Seen in Campaign

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — The Indian country of northwest New Mexico has its share of the enthusiasm for the presidential election campaign, but it has its own adaptations.

New bumper stickers appearing around Gallup, which the Chamber of Commerce says is the Indian capital of the world, read "Ya-Ta-Ha LBJ."

Ya-Ta-Ha — pronounced yah-tah-hey — is Navajo. It means "greetings."

An average of one family in every five in the nation moves each year. Some in the lower income brackets move as often as three times a year, census studies have shown.

Hoover Kept Up Hard Work in Later Years

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — His humor was gentle; his sense of irony, acute; his passion for brevity, intense.

In 1957, when he was 83 years old, already an ex-president 24 years and no longer charmed by the novelty, Herbert Hoover went to Independence, Mo., to help dedicate the library of another ex-president, Harry S. Truman.

He sat on the platform in 91-degree weather, and, from his half closed eyes and pursing mouth, it was difficult to tell which he suffered from more, the heat or the oratory.

Later, the 31st president of the United States was invited to the home of his friend, the 33rd President of the United States, for refreshment. A gushing matron cornered Hoover. What, she asked, do ex-presidents do with all their time?

"Madame," he said, "we spend our time taking pills and dedicating libraries."

It wasn't true. Hoover, at 83 and more, worked twice as much as most men half his age. But like all his humor, the remark was delivered deadpan from a square, apple-red face. The words seemed to have been bitten off a fresh stalk of celery. The lines at the edges of his mouth remained turned down. Under the wispy brows a twinkle lurkd behind the misty blue eyes — the look of a man who could no logner be surprised or hurt by the affairs of men.

In his later days, Hoover often was asked if he could explain how his public image had run the gamut from extreme bitterness and disdain to enduring respect.

"It simply means I've outlived most of my enemies," he used to say with the chariness of a man suspicious of complimentary facts not checked and documented.

Hoover was fond of spending summer vacations with campers at the Bohemian Grove in California. In the later years, several score visitors always came to his cabin to pay their respects, which invariably made him recall:

"You know the first time I came here after leaving the White House, only two people sought me out. And they sneaked in through the woods so nobody would see them."

He wrote his many books and his many speeches — as a president or private citizen he never employed a ghost writer — always with a short stubby pencil. He scorned tape recorders, dictation machines, even ball point pens as "stimulants of verbosity." In his endless search to prune the unnecessary word or phrase, he had been known to rewrite a speech 28 times.

Although he was president in another generation, children write him often on a variety of subjects. His responses contained advice, only when sought, and simple unadorned facts about his own life, only when sought.

He resisted the temptation to pontificate.

One school boy asked," how the sixth grade made your life successful?"

Responded Herbert Clark Hoover, "The sixth grade made my life successful by preparing me for the seventh grade."

School Traffic Safety Program Rated Higher

The school traffic safety education program in Colorado Springs rated 87 per cent of recommended performance last year, according to the annual traffic inventory compiled by the National Safety Council.

This compares with a rating of 82 for the previous year. The 87 per cent chalked up last year was three points short of earning a certificate of achievement.

Garry Berry handles the safety education program in School District 11.

The National Safety Council traffic inventory had some recommendations for the public schools in the city to further upgrade its traffic safety education program. They were:

— The person responsible for the safety education program should be allowed more time for his work and provided adequate staff assistance.

— Appraisal by school authorities of the traffic safety education program should also include such factors as testing and an educational program and review of safety education objectives.

— Enrollment in behind-the-wheel driving instruction should be increased.

Peking Boasts A-Test Heavy Blow at U.S.

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Red China said today its detonation of an atomic bomb had "shocked and irritated" the United States and that both President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk had "tried their best to belittle" its significance.

It also noted Rusk's television statement Oct. 18 that China's prestige undoubtedly would be raised because it now is a nuclear nation.

The New China News Agency dispatch from Peking said the Chinese achievement "is a heavy blow to the U.S. policy of nuclar monopoly and nuclear blackmail."

It said Johnson pretended to be concerned about the well-being of the Chinese people, "in spite of the fact that the United States has conducted hundreds of nuclear tests."

Peking also attacked Johnson's rejection of its proposal for a world conference to outlaw nuclear weapons, saying: "while villifying the Chinese government proposal, Johnson revealed that the U.S. government was not interested at all in the complete prohibition of nuclear weapons.

In New Delhi, Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri warned that "the Chinese are trying to build up a mighty war machine and thus create fear in the minds of all." He spoke in a broadcast marking "solidarity day," the opening of the China-India border war in 1962.

Malaysia's deputy prime minister and defense minister, Tun Abdul Razak, said the Chinese nuclear test had "strengthened the Communist position in Southeast Asia."

Negro Playwright Is Critically Ill

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright Lorraine Hassberry is critically ill.

The 34-year-old Negro writer is in University Hospital. A spokesman said today her condition is critical, but the nature of her illness was not disclosed.

The Nile River, more than 4,000 miles long, is regarded as the lifeblood of the United Arab Republic. It is the major source of water for homes, farms and industry.

"TOTAL SERVICE"

Denny Richardson, truck sales manager and Phil Long, owner and general manager of Phil Long Ford give you some idea of the size of the new Phil Long Ford showroom. When completed, the showroom will hold up to 15 cars and still leave room for customers to shop in a relaxed atmosphere.

The new Phil Long Ford building, off the freeway southwest of town, will have 60 stalls in it's Service Department. The latest equipment and techniques will mean "Total Service" at the lowest possible prices.

And speaking of "Total Service", Phil Long Ford was the first to make the phrase a reality in a dealership truck department. Visit the Phil Long Ford Truck Center at 4011 North Sinton Road (just off the freeway north of Fillmore); inspect the service and sales facilities. You'll see new and used trucks for any job. And while you're there test drive the 1965 Ford pickup. The new TWIN-I-BEAM front axle makes this the most economical, most durable and the smoothest riding pickup ever . . . and only Ford has it!
